NEW LATIN COUP D'ETAT

SAN SALVADOR (AP) — President Jose Maria Lemus was overthrown today in a military coup.

A combined civilian-military junta has taken power.

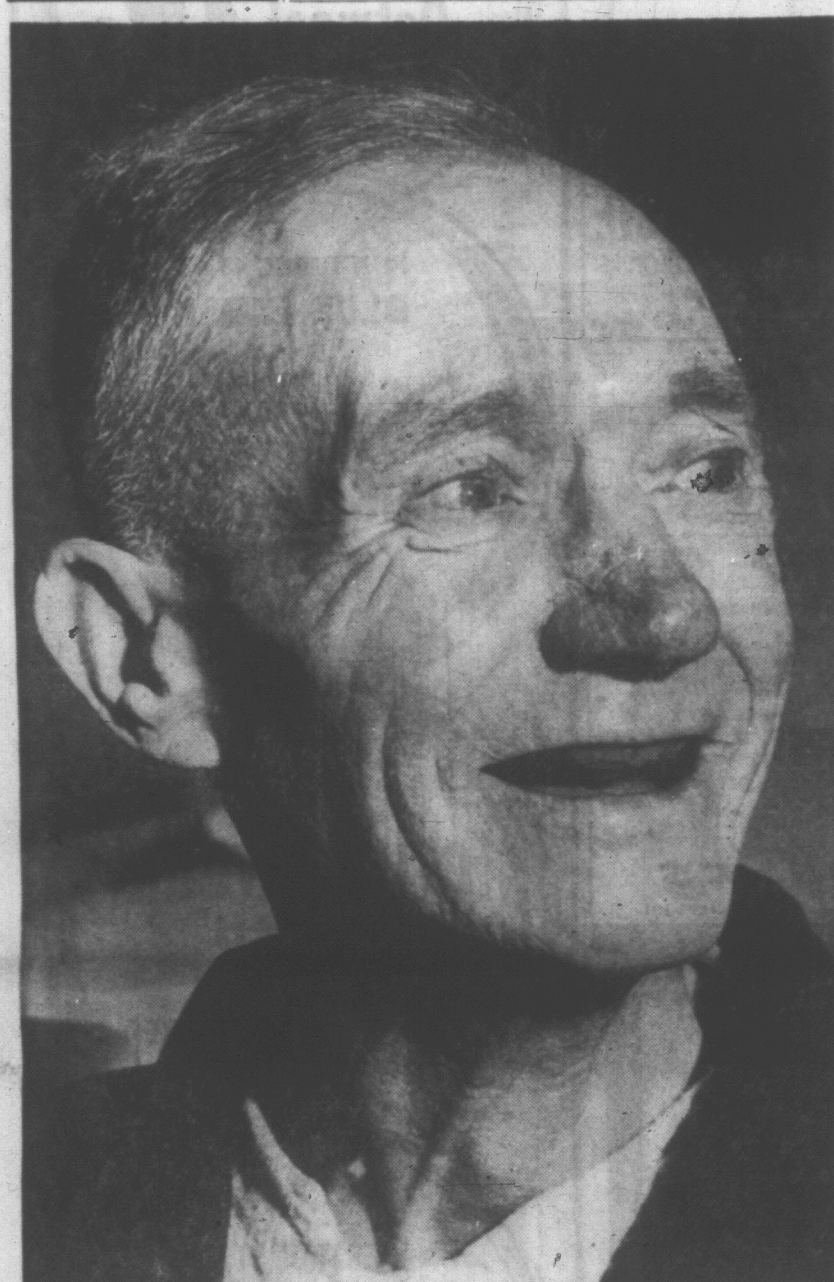

Lemus went to Guatemala accompanied by the secretary-general of the presidency, Maj. Adolfo Rubio Melhado.

The capital and the country were reported calm.

El Salvador has been under a state of siege imposed by the Lemus government.

'Share the Wealth' Plan Hinted by Sweep Winner

By MONTE ROBERTS

James Cambrey, 1185 Reynolds, won $137,500 today with an Irish Sweepstake ticket on Midsummer Night, winner of the Cambridgeshire Handicap at Newmarket, bringing his lifetime sweepstake winnings to a total of $137,590.

The lifetime has been a long one — 71 years — and the purchases of sweepstake tickets many and varied.

Mr. Cambrey, a veteran of the First World War, has been a consistent ticket buyer since the days before he donned uniform in 1914. His only previous win was shortly after the armistice, a $90 consolation prize.

IN HOSPITAL

Mr. Cambrey heard the good news at the Veterans' Hospital today, where he has been spending a few days receiving treatment for anemia and an infected throat.

"What will he do with the money?"

"God knows," said Mr. Cambrey, a wide grin on his pixyish face. "But I have a big family. Three married sons, one married daughter. Ten grandchildren. Eleven great-grandchildren."

Nine Canadians will cash in on Ides of March. Five won $55,000 each on Fougalle in second place.

CONSOLATIONS

Four Victoria and one Comox resident drew tickets on horses entered in the race, and will receive consolation awards of up to $1,300.

They were: Hans Myhre, J. A. A. Olivier, Wah Quan, and William Marsden, Victoria; and unidentified "Young Fellow," Comox.

Only other Canadian $137,500 winner as yet identified is Merle Purtil, 40-year-old Halifax spinster.

B.C. Wants Tax Talks Postponed

OTTAWA (CP) — Premier Bennett of British Columbia said today the Dominion-provincial fiscal conference should make an immediate attack on Canada's unemployment problem.

In a brief prepared for the conference of premiers he proposed that long-range tax-sharing arrangements, to be negotiated at the meeting, should be set aside for the present.

"In the view of British Columbia, the urgent necessity for a many-pronged attack on the factors which have led to recession and unemployment deserves first priority," he said.

Copies of his brief were distributed to reporters outside the closed conference room this morning a few minutes after the meeting was called to order.

TO MAKE JOBS

It contained detailed plans for a five-year $411,800,000 plan for British Columbia which he called a "partnership development program."

Included were $50,000,000 in projects which would "generate 438,000 man-days of employment and should be started immediately."

"British Columbia believes that the details of tax-sharing arrangements must for the present time, at least, yield priority to the more pressing problems of national development and employment."

"British Columbia's only further observation is that the province should receive a larger percentage of personal income tax revenue in order to further reduce home-owner taxes in both municipal and rural areas."

Mr. Bennett said that when the present round of Dominion-provincial fiscal talks began in July, he urged action to improve fiscal relations between the federal and provincial governments, contending that the provinces should not try "to cut bigger slices from the existing financial pie."

UNEMPLOYMENT FIRST

But now "the economic pie has not grown; indeed, it has shrunk."

"The urgent necessity for a many-pronged attack on the factors which have led to recession and unemployment deserves first priority."

Mr. Bennett also urged the federal government to make capital available to school boards, municipalities and hospitals at not more than 2 per cent interest.

He asked that the federal government "remit forthwith" $17,334,000 as a subsidy to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, to cover its northern extension, and said the provincial government is prepared to build a further extension to the Alberta border if the Northern Alberta Railway were built from Hines Creek to connect with it.

UN CRACKS DOWN ON CONGO TROOPS

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The United Nations cracked down on the unruly and disorganized Congolese army today, ordering its men out of Leopoldville and back into barracks by Thursday morning.

The UN acted to end the orgy of looting, drunkenness and violence by Congolese soldiers who have been molesting panicky citizens of this capital city since Saturday.

TWO MONTHS' HEAD START

Commons Opens Nov. 17

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced today the next session of Parliament will be open Nov. 17 this year, giving members and senators a two-month head start on their legislative work.

Normally the next regular session would open in mid-January, but Mr. Diefenbaker foreshadowed the earlier opening last Saturday when he said there would be a pre-Christmas start.

It will be the fourth session of the 24th Parliament, elected March 31, 1958.

Mr. Diefenbaker told the Progressive Conservative party national executive meeting Saturday the earlier opening would permit the Commons to dispose of the throne speech debate and some other matters — such as setting up parliamentary committees — before taking a Christmas adjournment. His hope was that the session could end earlier next summer than usual. Recent sessions have been running into July and this year it lasted until Aug. 10.

High on the agenda for the new session is expected to be a government bill setting up a national productivity advisory council to tackle the long-range unemployment problem.

Queen Told 'Be Careful' November 1

LONDON (AP) — An astrologer who predicted a year ago that the life of the Queen might be endangered this fall has warned her to be specially careful Nov. 1.

The astrologer is Dr. W. J. Tucker.

In the Astrological Magazine of India he wrote in August, 1959:

"The principle danger is aviation and the Queen's advisors should dissuade Her Majesty, should she manifest a desire to travel by air anytime during the years 1960-61."

He warned particularly against mid-October to Nov. 1.

"Tuesday, Nov. 1, will be the most dangerous day of all," he wrote.

In an interview today, he said:

"The Queen's plane narrowly escaped being hit by some fighter planes yesterday. My prediction was borne out."

As to Nov. 1, that's the day the Queen opens Parliament.

"She plans no plane travel that day," said a Buckingham Palace spokesman.

Premiers Balk At Return To 'Tax Jungle'

By TOM GOULD
(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Diefenbaker today told the provincial governments that Ottawa is willing to scrap the existing tax-rental agreement and allow them to fix their own rate of income taxes and succession duties.

He made the proposal in opening the dominion-provincial tax conference. The conference immediately broke up, as the ten premiers and their aides wanted time to study it before continuing.

Premier Bennett of British Columbia and Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan later attacked the proposal and other premiers gave evidence of a lack of enthusiasm.

"It's a return to the tax jungle of the 1930s," said Premier Douglas following the luncheon break of the conference.

"British Columbia must say that it considers these to be totally unrealistic," commented Premier Bennett.

Mr. Bennett said B.C. is "surprised and disappointed at the action of the prime minister in refusing to make the most pressing national problem of the day — unemployment — the first item on the agenda of the conference."

"The proposals offer no aid whatever to the hard-pressed municipalities short of adoption by the provincial governments of a policy of double taxation in the income tax field. B.C. has stated its opposition to such a policy and we will continue to oppose it in the strongest possible terms."

The proposal could result in a different level of income taxation, both personal and corporate, in each province, after the existing rental agreement expires on March 31, 1962.

The prime minister also agreed to a demand initiated by Premier Frost of Ontario for a constitutional amendment that would enable the provinces to levy an indirect sales tax, at the retail level.

This step would require almost unanimous approval. It would allow the seven provinces now collecting direct sales taxes to slip them on before the final over-the-counter purchase.

At present, Ottawa collects all personal and corporate income taxes and succession duties from all provinces but Quebec, then hands back a percentage of the collection to the provincial governments.

"It is an old adage of public finance that the government that spends the money ought to collect the money," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

In effect, he told the premiers that if they feel the Canadian taxpayer can support a higher level of taxation, they can raise it themselves, and take the blame.

In terms of dollars, the federal government would reduce its tax collections by $300,000,000 a year after 1962. The provinces, to continue their existing rate of spending, would have to make up that amount by raising their own personal and corporate income taxes and succession duties.

If they want to spend at a higher level — their requests at the first tax-sharing conference totalled $2,000,000,000, according to an estimate by Finance Minister Fleming — they could set higher rates.

No mention was made in Mr. Diefenbaker's statement of collection. However, it is known Ottawa favors using the federal government's facilities as a single collection agency.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that to meet the needs of provinces with a lower tax potential, Parliament would be asked to pro-

U.S. Prestige Report Won't Be Made Public

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House acknowledged today that the U.S. Information Agency prepared a secret report on American prestige overseas and backed up the agency's refusal to let congress see it.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the report was "an internal, low level staff paper similar to many others that are prepared" by the agency's staff.

Hagerty said the paper was labelled "secret under policies approved by the president pertaining to internal working papers of the executive branch."

The question of American prestige abroad has become one of the major issues of the presidential campaign.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee, said yesterday the USIA report confirms his contention that U.S. prestige abroad has fallen.

Hagerty did not say anything about the content of the report.

FLOOD OF WORDS OVER COLUMBIA

'Great Debate' Just Blah, Blah

By TOM GOULD

OTTAWA — Justice Minister Fulton and B.C.'s Premier Bennett conducted a war of words today over financing of the development of the Columbia River.

There was a comic air about the 'debate', conducted in the main lobby of the Parliament Buildings before swarms of reporters awaiting the opening of the federal-provincial tax-sharing conference.

The two men met briefly before the debate, shook hands, smiled, then headed for separate corners of the lobby. Premier Bennett was first:

"We have no offer from the federal government for financing the Columbia," he said. And he tossed a few playful hints that B.C. might just decide to finance the development on its own.

"We are getting the cheapest money in Canada today," said the premier.

He told reporters Ottawa has never put an offer to assist in financing the Columbia in writing. When reminded the offer is in writing in the minutes of a Columbia negotiating meeting, he said: "There is nothing on the amortization period, 30 years, or 40 years, and nothing about the interest rate."

One of Mr. Fulton's aides was listening in, rushed over to Mr. Fulton, who then moved into position to confront the same newspapermen.

"Premier Bennett has an offer, and he has carefully refrained from coming to grips with it. We offered to finance half the cost of the storage dams, at the usual terms. (This involves the rate at which Ottawa obtains the money, plus one-eighth of one per cent.)

"He is dodging the matter," said Mr. Fulton.

"The federal government proposed a cut-and-dried take-it-or-leave-it offer. We are prepared to consider any counter-proposals but we must have B.C.'s reactions first. The ball is in his hands."

Both men said it was up to the other to make the first move, which prompted a reporter to remark: "Just like Khrushchew and Eisenhower."

Said Mr. Fulton: "With Mr. Bennett as Khrushchew I will accept the parallel."

On the other side of the lobby, Premier Bennett replied: "Blah, blah."

HERE, HERE MY LORD FERRETS MOST MORAL

LONDON (Reuters)—An English lord was verbally bitten today for an attack on the morals of ferrets.

Last Friday, Lord Hailsham, in a speech marking his installation as rector of Glasgow University, attacked "pin-ups, millionaires and actors with bodies of gods and goddesses and the morals of ferrets."

He got a reply today from D. V. Quayle, who identified himself as president of the National Federation of Ferret fanciers and Skunk Breeders.

In a letter to The Guardian of Manchester, Quayle said:

"The ferret is one of the most moral animals on earth. It regards marriage as sacred and divorce as impossible."

"Lord Hailsham may rest assured that the one or two polygamous ferrets he may have observed are shunned by the rest of the ferret world."

vide equalization payments or their equivalent to a total of $220,000,000 a year, about the scale of this year's payments.

The dollar amount would be fixed, a factor many provinces are expected to oppose. However, Ottawa could be willing to bargain on this point.

The equalization fund of $220,000,000 a year would provide for the Atlantic provinces adjustment grant, and the special $8,000,000 a year paid to Newfoundland under the terms of union.

Mr. Diefenbaker said Ottawa doubts the logic of stabilization grants under a system where the provinces levy their own taxes, but is willing to continue stabilization grants for the five-year period anticipated for his proposed new agreement.

He also conceded a point to Mr. Frost in undertaking to permit the reciprocal application of sales and commodity taxes on federal and provincial crown agencies. In other words, federal agencies would pay provincial sales and commodity taxes, and provincial agencies would pay similar federal taxes.

He did not detail Ottawa's plans for shared-cost programs, but said he did not recommend any change at this time, "except to say that further studies for the purpose of simplifying, and if possible consolidating some of these programs might be made."

The prime minister said Ottawa is willing to negotiate the taxes on mining and logging companies, and the sharing of tax on private utilities distributing or generating electricity or gas.

German Army Moves Into France Again

PARIS (AP) — The spearhead of another German army is arriving in France — this time as allies taking up training positions.

The first armored infantry units, totalling 200, were ordered into the Saarland tonight. The full battalions, 2,400 in all, will be at their training sites at Sissone and Mourmelon within a week.

The Germans are coming here under an agreement with France signed Tuesday night, whereby the French are to make military installations available to their West German allies for training purposes. The camps remain part of the French Army's installations and under French command.

Many Frenchmen still remember with bitterness two or even three wartime German invasions and occupations.

Soviet Rocket Chief Killed In Air Crash

MOSCOW (AP) — Marshal Mitrofan Ivanovich Nedelin, 57, commander of the Soviet Union's rocket forces and one of Premier Khrushchev's most trusted men, was killed Monday in an air accident.

Nedelin was the man given direct authority to retaliate for spy flights over the Soviet Union after American U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers was downed in his plane and captured.

The marshal's death was announced Tuesday night by the official Soviet news agency Tass and Radio Moscow.

No details of the accident were given.

Radio Moscow said Nedelin would be succeeded as rocket troop commander by Marshal Kirill Semenovich Moskalenko, 60-year-old commander of the Moscow military district.

Moskalenko also took over the post of deputy minister of defence which Nedelin formerly held.

Nedelin was appointed chief of Soviet rocket forces in May. Last June 3 Khrushchev said Nedelin had been given direct authority to use nuclear warheads in rockets fired at bases in retaliation for any future United States spy flights.

FOREIGN MONEY FACTOR

Ouch! We Owe $15.3 Billion

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's net indebtedness to other countries rose to a record $15,300,000,000 at the end of 1959—double the 1952 figure and four times as much as in 1949.

Major factor in this huge growth in indebtedness has been the rise in foreign long-term investments in Canada, which rose to $20,700,000,000 at the end of 1959, compared with $8,000,000,000 a decade earlier.

The figures are contained in a 74-page report issued today by the Bureau of Statistics, dealing with the Canadian balance of payments and the international investment position.

Last year's total of long-term foreign investments in Canada reflects an increase of 9 per cent from $21,800,000,000 at the end of 1958. It follows increases of 9 per cent and 12 per cent in the two preceding years.

RECORD TOTAL

United States investments in Canada rose last year to a record $15,700,000,000, up $1,300,000,000 from the end of 1958.

The report said that since 1955 there have been substantial increases in U.S. portfolio investments as well as in direct investments.

Greatest increases in direct U.S. investments in Canada have been in oil, mining and manufacturing.

These direct U.S. investments rose to $9,850,000,000 last year from $9,063,000,000 at the end of 1958. This represents a three-fold increase from $3,095,000,000 in 1949.

British investments in Canada have been increasing every year since 1948. Last year's rise carried the total to $3,200,000,000, slightly higher than the previous peak of $2,766,000,000 established in 1930.

Investments in Canada last year by other countries rose last year to $1,700,000,000 — five times the value in 1949.

Last year's Canadian imbalance on both merchandise trade and non-merchandise transactions was higher, raising the current account deficit to $1,429,000,000 from $1,131,000,000 at the end of 1958.

The deficit on merchandise trade—the value of imports over exports—doubled to $380, 000,000 from $179,000,000 at the end of 1958.

The balance on non-merchandise transactions—which take in dividends and interest, travel outlays, freight and shipping charges, inheritances and migrants' funds—rose to a record $1,049,000,000 from $952,000,000 a year earlier.

Walking Stick For John D.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia has presented Prime Minister Diefenbaker with a silver-and-gold-tipped malacca walking stick.

Mr. Diefenbaker may take to using it.

An aide to the Malayan leader said that the cane, which has a silver-inscribed handle with the Malayan coat-of-arms in gold, was presented to the Canadian prime minister as a token of friendship. He added that Mr. Diefenbaker said he had been thinking of starting to use a walking stick.

The Tunku also presented Mrs. Diefenbaker with an embroidered purple-and-gold table runner and eight place mats bearing the Malayan crest.

Germans Join U.K. Probe Of Buzzing

LYNEHAM (Reuters) — A joint British-German investigating commission assembled at this southern English town today as angry headlines told Britons the Queen and Prince Philip narrowly missed death Tuesday.

Two NATO Sabre jet fighters, believed to be West German, buzzed an airline carrying the Royal couple home from a private visit to Denmark.

West German defence officials sent two lieutenant-colonels to take part in the investigation at an RAF base near here following the incident over the Dutch-German border.

Co-pilot Lt. Frank Stevens said the two Sabre jets "with damn great Iron Crosses on their wings"—the markings of the West German Air Force—passed 50 feet above the Royal plane, an RAF Comet jetliner. Several European NATO members use Sabre jets of U.S. design.

"Who nearly killed the Queen?" headlines The Daily Sketch.

"How could it happen?" demands The Daily Herald.

The Daily Express says: "A feeling of utter horror followed by a sense of incredulity that this could have happened. And finally a mounting mood of anger."

Incident 'Deliberate' Says Paper

The Daily Mail claims the two jet fighters "were deliberately buzzing the aircraft."

It quotes a Luftwaffe colonel at Oldenburg, West Germany, as saying three West German planes were on a target practice mission with one of them acting as target for rocket cameras.

"It is possible they may have carried out a few runs on the Comet by way of a change," the German colonel is quoted as saying. "We can give you further details in half an hour."

But half an hour later a security curtain had fallen on Oldenburg. The Daily Mail says.

West German Defence Minister Franz Josef Strauss ordered a full investigation after German and Dutch denials that their planes were involved.

The royal plane was using a "purple" air route reserved for royal flights when the incident occurred. The route lies adjacent to normal air lines between Scandinavia and London.

'New System of Rigid Rules Overdue'

"If it is impossible to protect even Her Majesty, how much trust can anyone put in the international systems of air traffic control?" asks The Scotsman.

"The Queen's misadventure shows that a new world-wide system of rigid rules is overdue," says The Daily Mail. The story was headline news throughout West Germany, although most newspapers merely described the plane as "allegedly German."

In The Netherlands, newspapers angrily denied suggestions shortly after the buzzing that the planes were Dutch.

One newspaper quoted a Dutch Air Force spokesman as saying:

"The reason they are pointing their fingers at Dutch Hunter aircraft is perhaps because German aircraft are mainly under British flight control."

"Perhaps the British think it is embarrassing to have to admit that their own Queen was endangered by German planes."

SAINT-JOHN PERSE

French Poet Wins Rich Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — The Nobel prize for literature was awarded today to French poet Saint-John Perse.

Saint-John Perse is the pen name of 73-year-old French diplomat Alexis Leger.

The prize amounts to about $33,500.

Perse's reputation as a poet rests chiefly on Anabase, published in 1924 and translated into English by T. S. Eliot. This and his collection of poems, Vents Winds have been translated into many other languages.

He has lived in the United States since the fall of France in 1940 and is a fellow of the Library of Congress and its consultant in French literature.

Perse was born in Guadeloupe, French West Indies, in 1887. He studied law and in 1914 entered the diplomatic service, his first foreign post being in Peking.

After opposing the Vichy regime in 1940, Perse went into self-exile in the United States. The French state subsequently reinstated him with full rights but he refused to re-enter the diplomatic corps.

ONLY WAY TO COMBAT UNEMPLOYMENT

B.C. Unions to Press For 7-Hour Work Day

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's organized labor has voted to press for a seven-hour work day in all future contract negotiations.

A resolution to that effect drew unanimous support Tuesday from representatives of 250 affiliated unions at the annual convention of the B.C. Federation of Labor (CLC).

It called on all member unions to seek the shorter working hours in forthcoming negotiations.

Federation Secretary Pat O'Neal summarized the statements of a dozen speakers who advocated the resolution when he said:

"It is a major way—really the only way—to combat serious unemployment which exists and to meet the technological advances in many industries in B.C."

"A NATIONAL DISGRACE" The secretary of the parent Canadian Labor Congress had earlier told delegates that unemployment in Canada is a national disgrace.

Donald MacDonald of Ottawa said the jobless figures are a damning indictment of our economic system. He warned there is every indication that 750,000 persons will be unemployed in Canada this winter, and perhaps 1,000,000.

The federation also adopted a plan to speed up and improve contract negotiations and urged the use of work stoppages if necessary to force the repeal of provincial legislation restricting picketing.

The negotiation plan would limit direct negotiations between parties to 10 days. If no settlement were reached within the allotted time, the minister of labor, on request of either side, would appoint a mediator. If the mediator failed the union would then conduct a strike vote.

The plan would cut out conciliation procedures which unionists claim are unsatisfactory.

The federation told its officers to "formulate a policy of full economic and political action" to fight for the repeal of two amendments to the Trade Unions Act passed in 1959.

Federation officials said later the intent is not to call a general strike. But where a union engaged in a strike in which they might have to defy the legislation, the officers would have the power to back a request for federation support.

B.C. Labor Group Condemns Paper

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Federation of Labor Tuesday condemned The Province newspaper for its "slanted" election coverage but turned down a resolution asking unionists to stop buying the paper.

Vic Midgley, member of a committee sponsoring the motion to condemn the newspaper, said a boycott of a single periodical "would not be in accordance with freedom of the press."

The resolution asking for the repeal of provincial legislation restricting picketing.

Egg Subsidy Boost?

GUELPH, Ont. (CP) — Extension of the deficiency payment program for eggs is being considered by the federal government, Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton said Tuesday. In his first speech since taking the agriculture portfolio, Mr. Hamilton told the Ontario Farm Union convention here, future deficiency payments might be made on the basis of a flock of 800 hens rather than 500.

HEALTH PLAN

The federation also urged the provincial government to introduce a province-wide health insurance plan and asked the CLC to undertake a campaign for a national health insurance plan.

The CLC was also asked by the federation to work with the AFL-CIO to have restrictions on political action removed from constitutions affecting Canadian locals of international units.

On the lighter side: The Painters and Decorators Union introduced a resolution saying the alcohol content of B.C. liquor "has been reduced" to practically the strength of water.

The resolution asking for the percentage of alcohol to be increased to its original level, was passed with only one dissenting vote.

STORE-CITY HALL-PLAN 'LACKING IN DIGNITY'

Dominion Construction Co. Ltd. Tuesday renewed its 1959 proposal to build an eight-storey, $1,800,000 City Hall on a Cathedral Hill site on a lease-purchase offer to the city.

Council rejected the proposal at the time but company vice-president R. G. Bental repeated the offer after a special committee was asked by aldermen to study a recent Marwell Construction Co. proposal to build a new City Hall on the present site which would include space for private offices and retail stores.

Mr. Bental, at a two-hour meeting with Mayor Percy Scourrah and Ald. Arthur Dowell, contended that his proposal would be more in keeping with a capital city's needs. A combination commercial and civic building would not be as dignified.

Mainwaring Raps Fulton's Claims

VANCOUVER (CP)—W. C. Mainwaring, president of Peace River Power Development Company rapped Justice Minister Fulton on two counts Tuesday for statements the minister made at an Ottawa press conference Monday.

Mr. Mainwaring said he "never at any time" suggested power from the Columbia and Peace Rivers would cost about the same when delivered in Vancouver, as Mr. Fulton quoted him.

"What I have said is that power eventually developed on the Columbia in Canada—he stressed the word Canada—would be approximately the same cost as Peace River power."

bia power which Canada obtains from the United States under an international agreement which federal authorities expect to be delivered at Vancouver at a cost of four mills a kilowatt-hour.

Mr. Mainwaring, in an interview, read a report quoting Mr. Fulton as saying: "The best price I have ever seen for Peace River is three mills at the site 600 miles away from the Vancouver market. If it costs one mill per 100 miles of transmission, that would set the Vancouver rate at nine mills — more than twice as much as the Columbia cost. Therefore I am surprised when Mr. Mainwaring says they will be the same."

Mr. Mainwaring described the statement as "utterly silly."

Reunion Behind the Curtain

THE WEEKEND DISPATCH which quoted a very conciliatory message from Peking to Moscow will require a little further explanation before its significance is entirely clear.

For some months Red China and Russia have been fighting an increasingly acrimonious battle of ideology—Peking quoting Lenin on the necessity of military force to effect the victory of Communism, Moscow quoting the same authority to show that capitalism can be forced to collapse through economic pressure.

The various publications in which the quarrel has been carried on had progressed beyond calling names to naming names. A serious breach between the two great Communist allies seemed imminent, and there was speculation on the possibility of a new Asiatic "Yugoslavia" which would upset the Communist axis and place the Soviet Union in a wholly new position.

The latest Chinese message to Moscow appears to reverse that trend. The Peking leaders gave the impression that they recognized the rightness of the Russian attitude, and called for closer co-operation and solidarity to achieve mutual victory.

What this means in international affairs—indeed, how real it is—must still be clarified. It may do much to explain Mr. Khrushchev's recent rough treatment of the West, his public advocacy of armed force to end colonialism, his pointed comments that Russian arms can be used if necessary to protect Russian rights. Such statements may have mollified Peking feelings to some extent, and made it possible for the Chinese to proffer the olive branch.

While the Soviet-Chinese axis can be a powerful and frightening factor in world affairs, there is a certain stability to be obtained from it. A Red China at odds with Russia, rejecting any Soviet restraining influence, and determined to pursue its victory-by-force doctrine, could constitute a serious threat to world peace. Perhaps for a while that threat has been postponed.

Paddy Wagon or Ambulance?

LAST WEEK SAANICH'S Police Chief Bert Pearson expressed concern over the lack of adequate police ambulances in his municipality. Two panel trucks are available for emergencies but they are not of a type, or properly equipped, for the work that may be demanded of them.

What applies to the Saanich police department also applies to the Saanich fire department, as far as the emergency vehicle is concerned.

More significant, perhaps, from a population point of view, a similar situation exists in the city as well as in Esquimalt.

There are cars, or trucks, that can be brought into service. But patrol wagons are not ambulances and are often used for purposes which leave them in poor shape to handle a seriously ill or injured person without extensive clean-up work.

Admittedly a completely equipped ambulance is not required by police or fire departments all day every day. The occasions when one is needed arise often enough, however, to make such equipment a highly desirable, if not essential, element of police and fire emergency service.

Alphonse and Gaston

MR. J. W. PICKERSGILL COM pressed a great deal into a sentence of advice he gave trades unionists in his talk here the other evening.

"They should try to get the prices down so more people will buy their products and that will increase the number of jobs for them."

Of course, Canada, dependent as it is on exports, cannot sell outside its borders when competitors offer acceptable substitutes for Canadian goods at attractively low prices. The hard-headed businessmen of Britain, for instance, won't "buy Canadian" for sentimental reasons if "buying Canadian" entails paying much more for the merchandise. That is a point which British Columbia knows through experience in the lumber industry if nothing else.

Moreover, if prices can be brought down, the trades unionist can buy more for his own money.

But there is an obstacle blocking the acceptance of Mr. Pickersgill's advice. Labor conventionally takes the position that wages follow prices, never catch up to them when they are rising. Whether this be so or not, labor is hesitant to start the downward revision of prices by the means at its disposal—that is, voluntarily reducing its share of the cost of production by taking home less in the pay envelope.

Everyone, it seems, is in favor of getting prices down. But everyone seems equally wedded to the characteristic remark of an ancient comic strip when it comes to converting the idea to action. And the characteristic and courtly words of that comic strip are: "After you, my dear Alphonse. After you, my dear Gaston."

Good Idea, But . . .

MR. DIFENBAKER'S CALL for an international court of justice which would have similar jurisdiction throughout the world to that enjoyed in Canada by this country's Supreme Court directs attention once more to impediments at The Hague.

There is a world court in existence, but in name only. Its owners are limited because, according to American authorities, the Connally amendment robs it of proper jurisdiction.

By the Connally amendment the United States reserves to itself the right of deciding whether any case in which the country is involved is domestic or not. By the simple procedure of declaring a matter in which it is concerned a domestic issue—regardless of the particulars—the United States can refuse to appear before the World Court.

If the United States insists on that right, how can it be refused to any other nation?

Mr. Diefenbaker's appeal for the international tribunal is to be commended. Until such principles as those involved in the Connally amendment are ironed out to give a world court adequate authority, the idea remains an ideal—and one that is not practically attainable in this phase of our imperfect international society.

A Hundred Pipers an' A', an' A'

WHEN THOSE RECENTLY modern architects designed homes with partitions instead of fixed walls (so the owner could adjust the size of a room to fit temporary requirements merely by pushing the partitions around) they encountered one odd problem.

Since the partitions did not reach the ceiling, sound came over them like volley balls. The noise interfered with gracious living, but not for long. The designers built in music so that the noise was hardly noticeable.

This is an auditory variant of the old Continental practice of dousing eau de Cologne on unwash-ed flesh, but it does suggest an employment opportunity when jobs are hard to come by.

In certain communities during the tourist season, visitors are welcomed by the skirl of a special piper engaged as official greeter.

In many parts of the world today communities are deeply disturbed by the comings and goings of jet liners arriving and departing from adjacent airstrips.

How to overcome the noise?

By combining the techniques of the wall-less home builders with the welcoming practices of tourist centres. A piper or two at the airport, and who'd notice the jets?

... this composite plan may keep Victoria happy ... but if you Vehicle Branch people cut in here any further it's going to be a pretty funny-shaped auditorium, is all I can say ...

FOR THE RECORD

By B. A. TOBIN

Fold Away Our Story for Tomorrow

A NEWSPAPER traditionally is "written for today." By tomorrow its news is old, its jokes are stale, its advertisements are changed, its opinions either confirmed or rejected, its short life ended. But not quite. For the newspaper edition as a thing of interest does not always die. It may sleep, like an insect entering a dormant stage before emerging into more glory than ever. The newspaper edition goes to sleep the day after publication, although it may linger for a day or two with some particular item of interest.

Tobin

Then for a while it is of use only for its paper content. Garbage is wrapped in it, shoes are stuffed with it, puddles are mopped with it, muddy feet are walked on it, shelves and drawers are lined with it, cracks are plugged with it—and now and then one is put away whole, by accident or design, and left to age in an attic-trunk-or-basement hideaway.

Perhaps it is disturbed from time to time. A few months later or a few years later it still doesn't rate a second glance. But as time goes on its yellowing pages take on a little interest.

New Statute

At the ten year mark a casual eye may glance over the headlines with a flicker of remembrance. At fifteen years the pages may be opened by some discoverer and an item here or there looked at. After twenty years the front page starts to become historical, the advertisements take on museum value. The paper ceases to become merely an old newspaper; it becomes a "human document."

In succeeding years—at thirty, forty, fifty years—anyone who comes across the dusty, brittle record appreciates the fact that he is privileged to take a journey back in time, he is seeing the world as it was decades ago.

As the years roll by, the newspaper copy becomes more valuable. Those who look at it from time to time have ceased to laugh at the clothing styles in the pictures, ceased to marvel at the funny writing style, stopped remarking on the clumsy type faces. For the paper is gradually becoming more than an oddity, it is becoming history, and hence entitled to respect, if not reverence.

Long before the sixties and seventies have rolled over it, the paper has probably been placed in some safe place. Once preserved by accident, it now is preserved on purpose. It has become part of the family archives, to be brought out now and then and shown to admiring friends.

Treasure Trove

At the hundred-year mark the paper steps into a still higher category. It becomes a rarity and a treasure. It may even be placed in a bank vault for safe keeping and, like a bond earning interest, allowed to amass value with the passage of the years.

The events it chronicles have now, no doubt, passed almost entirely from man's knowledge. But the headlines and stories remain, silent witnesses of history—of battles long ago, quarrels forgotten, excitements lost in dusty time, victories and defeats that have surrendered all meaning, the early chapters in the story of a community which has changed beyond recognition, an irreplaceable link with those who have gone before us.

The dull insect that fell into the dormant stage has emerged at last, to a valued and honored existence as a fragment of history.

What will the newspapers of our present days record for posterity? With what new knowledge will folk a century from now read of the threats to the United Nations, from the vantage point of knowing that the United Nations—if, indeed, they can remember it at all—perished shortly afterwards or, alternatively, triumphantly surmounted the attacks on it?

Looking Back

What will they think of the international lineups which our front pages indicate? Will they read with astonishment that once the United States and Russia were at loggerheads, will they see with amazement that Communism was a great force in the world, that there were still some countries that did not govern themselves—or, perhaps, that no countries had yet come under the worldwide government that they know?

Will scientific achievements cause them to smile, while giving just due to the fumbling pioneers of our day? Will they read of war—and wonder what war is? Or will they read of war, and marvel that it has never stopped?

The newspapers record history as it is made each day. Yet few of the people who make it, in one way or another, realize that history is the product of their efforts.

Look well at the pages of newsprint with which you line a trunk today. Take a second look at the current story of the human race which you fold away on some remote shelf. For what you are casually preserving may turn out to be the prize possession of a museum some day, the Rosetta Stone that may help to interpret our tangled times to folk in ages to come, as it attempted to interpret them to the readers of today.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Say It With Music

The week November 20 to 27 has been designated as Canada Music Week and I am wondering whether musicians in Victoria are availing themselves of the opportunity this particular week affords them to present live music in every form and thus stimulate a desire in the younger generation to learn and to perform music and make good listeners of others.

The mayor of Victoria might lend his influence by declaring the same week in Victoria as Canada Music Week. Every musical group in Greater Victoria could put on a program. Various stores might feature live music daily and every band could give one street concert of one hour. The Symphony Orchestra might be persuaded to put on an extra pops concert. The radio and television stations I am sure would be willing to do their share.

I feel sure our daily newspapers will co-operate in making Victoria alive musically for one week.

I have nothing to sell in this connection except the ideas expressed above.

Bible and Heart Disease

It was most encouraging to read on Page 18 of your Oct. 21 issue the report given at the American Heart Association's annual scientific meeting about the new remedy for heart patients. It was good to hear that a way of reducing cholesterol (the fatty material thought to play a part in choking and blocking the arteries and producing heart attacks and strokes) has been discovered.

But perhaps it is even better to know that eminent heart specialists are discovering, not only ways of relieving, but also a way of avoiding, to a great extent, these distressing ailments. Dr. Paul Dudley White, consultant to President Eisenhower has said that God may have given Moses a clue on how to avoid heart disease. This eminent heart specialist declared: "It is conceivable that a few years from now we medical men may repeat to the citizens of the United States the advice that Moses was asked by God to present to the children of Israel 3,000 years ago."

In this connection the specialist made reference to Leviticus 7:23-24: "Ye shall eat no manner of fat, of ox, or of sheep, or of goat. And the fat of the beast that dieth of itself, and the fat of that which is torn with beasts, may be used in any other use: but ye shall in no wise eat of it."

Jobs Looking for Men

We hear a lot and very often about how many persons are looking for jobs. What I have not seen reported in the papers is how many jobs are looking for workers; and let me emphasize workers.

Does any official body publish the latter figures?

On the face of it, one adult in ten or so in Canada is said to be looking for a job, so the matter is obviously of national importance, but it is just as important that the nation, when called upon to decide the matter, should only do so in the light of adequate knowledge of the facts.

WASHINGTON:

Touch of Diplomacy

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE late John Foster Dulles used constantly to preach that the cardinal rule in diplomacy was, as he put it, to seek "to prevent war by preventing miscalculation by a potential aggressor."

This, he said, meant a "policy of making clear our position in advance." We have learned by hard experience that failure to make our position known in advance makes war more likely because then an aggressor may miscalculate. He was thinking, of course, of the Kaiser in the First World War, Hitler in the second, and of the Soviet and its North Korean satellite in the Korean War.

Why is it then that during this campaign we are being told by Mr. Nixon's supporters that the opposite is true, that it is often better not to draw the line at which you intend to fight, that it is often better to keep the adversary guessing?

Wrong Tactic?

This is the thesis which Mr. Lodge is propounding and this is the position taken by "Life" magazine in discussing the lamentable Quemoy-Matsu issue. Was Mr. Dulles wrong when he called upon the country "to make clear our position in advance" of a potential aggression?

What has happened to make it a virtue to keep the adversary guessing about whether you will or whether you will not defend a particular territory?

There is a strong case to be made that John Foster Dulles was wrong in his doctrine. But that is not what has brought about this reversal of the Republican doctrine.

What has happened is that Mr. Nixon has chosen to "exploit"—the word is from "Life" magazine—the very uncomfortable predicament—in which, against our will and judgment, we are trapped.

In 1955, when we made the treaty guaranteeing Formosa and the Pescadores, President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles refused to include Quemoy and Matsu. They tried to persuade Chiang Kai-shek to evacuate those islands, and when he refused, being supported by powerful figures both inside the Administration and in the Senate, President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles invented a formula, deliberately vague, as a face-saving compromise.

The formula was to satisfy Chiang and his friends who wanted a guarantee of the offshore islands, and it was to satisfy a majority of the Senate who did not wish to guarantee the offshore islands. This formula, however, violated the most cherished doctrine and principle of John Foster Dulles. He had to give in because Chiang Kai-shek and his American supporters were too strong for him.

The whole thing is a monument to the failure of the Eisenhower administration to carry through its own policy, and to define candidly and openly the commitments of the United States.

The truth of the matter is that for five years we have been stuck with these islands. We have been entangled with Chiang and unable to do what we believe in.

Negotiate Again

All that Sen. Kennedy has said about this is that he would try once again to negotiate with Chiang in order to disentangle us, and he would try to do what the President himself wanted to do, to do what Mr. Herter has said plainly he would like to do, to do what the principles and convictions of John Foster Dulles called for.

He would like, if he can induce Chiang to agree, "to make clear our position in advance" of hostilities. It is slanderous to call this appeasement.

Along this line of campaigning there is something more to be said about Mr. Nixon's many references to "regrets" about the U-2. To hear Mr. Nixon talk, one would suppose Sen. Kennedy had said that the President should don sackcloth and ashes, and go barefoot and on his knees up the steps of the Kremlin.

To hear Mr. Nixon talk, one would suppose that the formal expression of diplomatic regrets about the violation of another country's territory was something that no loyal American and no genuine anti-Communist would ever dream of.

Little Knowledge

Mr. Nixon does not have much diplomatic experience and he has very little knowledge of the history and practices of diplomacy and no accurate knowledge of the diplomatic record of the Administration to which he belongs.

For in 1958, according to the "New York Times" of Feb. 2, the United States sent apologies to the Soviet Union because a United States Air Force jet made an accidental flight over East German territory.

In June, 1958, when the Soviet Union shot down an unarmed American transport over Soviet Armenia, the United States in a note to the Soviet government, denied that the transport had deliberately violated Soviet territory. But it added, "In fact, the aircraft ... inadvertently ... crossed the Soviet frontier, the government of the United States regrets that fact."

This year, moreover, the Eisenhower-Nixon administration expressed its "sincere regrets" to Castro's government because a private plane of Castro's Cuban enemies had taken off from American territory, eluding our patrols.

So what is the point of making such a fuss about Sen. Kennedy's point that he would have liked to settle the U-2 affair by expressing the regrets which are normal diplomatic practice?

In the spy business, the Administration, including Mr. Nixon who was never at the centre of things, acted like amateurs in a panic. Had the President disavowed personal responsibility, as in espionage all heads of government always do, and had he tried to close the incident with conventional diplomatic regrets, our standing in the world would be better than it is today; and our intelligence operations would be no less constricted than they now are. Men From Interpol

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The weather, unfortunately, was too warm for a trench coat, but by turning up my jacket collar I was able to look appropriately inconspicuous as I sidled into the building on Pennsylvania Avenue.

West

After a furtive glance down the corridor to make certain I wasn't being followed, I pressed the "down" button by the elevator door and stepped back into the shadows, pretending to be preoccupied with a hangnail.

It was a clever ruse designed to mislead any international criminals who might be lurking about. I really wanted to go up. The trick worked, too. At least, it fooled the elevator operator.

It took only half a minute for the elevator to respond to my signal. But to me, standing there exposed in the open lobby, the wait seemed like 30 seconds.

"Eleven, please," I said cryptically, using the code number which meant I wanted to be taken to the 11th floor. The operator looked baffled for a moment, but got the message. Giving me a hard look, she reversed directions and blasted off, muttering to herself.

In a trice, I was deposited outside a small conference room and in another trice I was face to face with Messrs. Marcel Sicot and Jean Nepote, secretary general and deputy secretary, respectively, of the international criminal police organization (Interpol).

What happened after that was just a gradual process of disillusionment. It was enough to destroy a man's faith in television.

Messrs. Sicot and Nepote, who have their headquarters in Paris, were in town for the 29th annual Interpol conference. Since the sessions are closed to the press, they thoughtfully held a news conference to help quench the curiosity of us journalists.

Right away, Mr. Sicot disabused us of any notion that Interpol maintains a staff of super-sleuths who go slithering around the globe solving crimes that had baffled the local gumshoes.

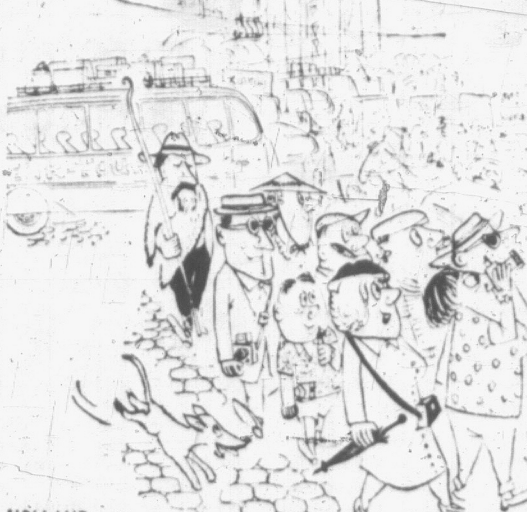

Interpol, he explained, is mostly a clearing house for information that might be of interest to police in its member countries. It couldn't arrest anyone even if the culprit walked in and confessed.

This was so blatant a contradiction of what I had been seeing in a TV serial based on Interpol that I suspected M. Sicot was pulling our legs. Thinking "I might trap him," I asked whether he had ever seen one of these shows.

M. Sicot promptly favored us with a monologue, delivered in French with a rising inflection. As it filtered through an interpreter, I got the impression that M. Sicot had not seen the show but had heard of it.

He used phrases like "completely different from reality" and "not responsible for anything the American public may be seeing on any size screen."

I left the news conference badly shaken. One more experience like that and I'll even quit believing in Wyatt Earp.

UN Airing Faces Delay

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Fidel Castro's charge that the United States is preparing an invasion of Cuba appeared destined today for debate after long delay in the UN political committee instead of immediate discussion in the General Assembly.

Demanding urgent consideration for the charge, Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa also accused the United States Tuesday of planning a "manufactured provocation" at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, to influence the U.S. presidential election.

Despite Soviet backing for Roa, the assembly steering committee voted 12 to 3 with five abstentions to send the U.S. said it belonged. Canada supported the move.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

$30 Flight to London

LONDON—Britain's Handley Page company began this week to test in flight a new type of aircraft wing, which, say the experts, is going to revolutionize long distance air travel.

Reyburn

Mounted on a Lancaster, it is a replica of the wing of the HP117, new super airliner they have tested in model form in wind tunnels.

The revolutionary part is not in the weird appearance of the HP117—which is a pure "flying wing," resembling a giant boomerang.

The revolution comes for the cash customers.

The HP117 is a 300-seater. Its passengers could be flown across the Atlantic at a mere $30 each (present cheapest air fare: $230).

The $30 rate is what the Handley Page people quote to the airline companies they hope to interest in the HP117.

It takes into account running costs, landing fees, airline administration costs and other overheads.

To the $30 the airline would have to add its profit. But even if it decided on 100 per cent, a fare of $60 from Toronto to London would still be a revolutionary change.

When do we get these bargain rates?

BOAC, a likely customer, is signed up for 45 new Vickers VC10s, for final delivery by 1965. TCA, another possible, has 23 Vanguards and 10 DC8s on order. So neither company is in the market for years to come.

And $60 Atlantic flips are a long way in the future.

SPECIAL SESSION URGED

Employment Program Drawn Up by Church

TORONTO (CP)—The United Church of Canada's board of evangelism and social service has adopted a six-point program as a means to overcome Canada's unemployment problem. The board urged:

1. A special session of Parliament before Christmas to consider an integrated work program based on the findings of the Deutsch committee of the Senate and the findings of the prime minister's forthcoming conference of industrial, financial and labor leaders.

2. An increased drive for overseas export markets.

3. A higher rate of production to reduce unit costs.

4. Canadians to reduce ing Canada's $1,500,000,000 annual liquor bill, to provide for home-grown capital development.

5. A pay-as-you-go works program for the unemployed and a balanced federal budget to halt inflation.

6. New taxation if necessary to finance a works program for constructing schools, hospitals, bridges, instead of level crossings, and other worthwhile projects.

"This is no time to heed the cries of Tory protectionists, whether they be industrial leaders, trade unionists or central Canada farmers," said Dr. James Mutchmor, board executive secretary. "Our country can lick its own unemployment problems."

Leaves Stunt Lawn's Growth

By HILDA BEASTALL
Leaves give us a deep pleasure when they make their appearance in spring, provide physical comfort during hot summer days, and yet many of us complain bitterly when they come fluttering down to the lawns and borders in fall.

Leaves create one of those continuous small jobs at this season for they must be dealt with promptly.

Falling on unused bare soil, or rough grass, they create no hazard, but on lawns and borders damage can result.

A matting of leaves on mown grass soon becomes a soggy mass which prevents air from reaching the roots. Since grass does a certain amount of growing in winter during mild spells, it is important that air be available when needed.

In the perennial borders we need to keep the crowns of dormant plants free from a collection of damp leaves for much the same reason. In addition, however, there are the overwintering slugs and earwigs to think about.

Nothing is more to the liking of slugs than to find a warm, damp blanket under which to snuggle while they chew away the young shoots of a delphinium which starts into growth, encouraged by the same warm, damp blanket, as the same leaves.

Abortion Charge Dismissed Against City Man

A charge of procuring an abortion against a 73-year-old Victoria man was dismissed partway through a preliminary hearing in city police court Tuesday.

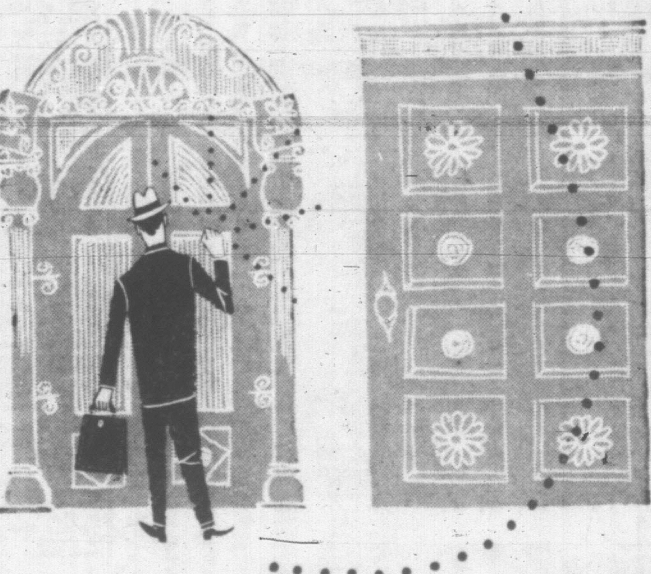

George Barrieau was charged with the offence last August, but the hearing was delayed due to a highway crash in which witnesses were injured and confined to hospital for long periods.

Witnesses were not able to identify anyone as the person they met at a Government Street hotel room about July 30.

MIDSUMMER NIGHT WINS

NEWMARKET, Eng. (AP)—Midsummer Night II won the 118th running of the Cambridgeshire Handicap today in a photo finish with Fougalle.

Idea of March was third.

Midsummer Night and Fougalle stormed to the line in the nine-furlong race that carries the last Irish Sweepstakes of the season in a neck-and-neck battle.

The judges called for a photo before deciding the winner. Then they gave the verdict to Midsummer Night with Fougalle second.

Midsummer Night was a 40-1 long shot in the field of 40 runners. Fougalle was 33-1.

Idea of March, the favorite, started at odds of 5-1. Fulshaw, Cross, a 25-1 betting shot, was fourth.

There were two late withdrawals, Fair Nicolls and Dairialatan.

WINNER AMERICAN

Midsummer Night II, a three-year-old chestnut colt by Djedda out of Night Sound, was born in the United States. He landed a first prize of £4,160 for his American owner, Paul Mellon.

The victory was a big upset in a race famous for long-shot winners since it was first run in 1839.

Fougalle, a three-year-old chestnut filly by Djefou out of Galatina, collected £463 and Idea of March won £216.

Fougalle and Idea of March are both British-owned.

The race took place in pouring rain over a turf track deep in mud. The mist obscured the positions of the runners until the last three furlongs.

At that point Borotra led Eshower, Master of Boyden and Spring Madness with Midsummer Night II closing up quickly.

As the horses came to the last two furlongs, Midsummer Night II dashed into the lead with Running Blue close behind. Fulshaw Cross and Fougalle also challenged strongly.

Idea of March then challenged as Running Blue weakened and Fougalle went after Idea of March and Midsummer Night.

In a thrilling finish Midsummer Night held off Fougalle to win by a head with Idea of March two lengths away in third place.

Lions Enter Hoop League

VANCOUVER (CP)—Teams in the newly-formed Inter-City Basketball League can look to some rugged opposition whenever they meet the B.C. Lions this season.

A team composed largely of B.C. Lions football players has entered the Inter-City League. The Lions' entry gives Vancouver four teams in the league.

The team will be sponsored by the football club and probably coached by Bob Pickell, one of Canada's outstanding basketball players. Lethbridge and Alberni have also entered the new league.

Four Areas Remain In Search for Site

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian Olympic Association has narrowed its search for possible sites for the 1964 winter Olympics to Banff-Lake Louise in Alberta and three British Columbia areas.

John Taylor, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Vancouver Burrard and member of a parliamentary committee that will make the eventual selection, said he received the information in a letter from Ken Farmer of Montreal, president of the Olympic Association.

The B.C. sites are Garibaldi Park, 40 miles north of Vancouver, Manning Park, 125 miles east of Vancouver, and Fernie, in the Rockies near the Alberta border.

Mr. Taylor said the Olympic Association will ask the federal government for $10,000 to pay one of the largest engineering companies in Canada to study the four sites.

The engineering report should be presented to the parliamentary committee by the end of January. Mr. Taylor said the committee will announce the selection in March.

Mr. Taylor said the selected area must be developed forthwith because the site must have catered to national tournaments before Canada can cover, Manning Park, 125 miles east of Vancouver, and Fernie, in the Rockies near the Alberta border.

HAWKS WEREN'T OUTNUMBERED IN GOAL COUNT

MOSS MAY TAKE PART IN WESTWOOD FINALE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Negotiations are under way to bring famed English racing driver Stirling Moss to nearby Westwood Circuit this weekend for a two-day meet.

Sports Car Club of B.C., owners of Westwood Circuit, expect to have Moss on hand for the local sports car racing season wrap-up.

Sports Car Club officials say Moss had written the club earlier saying he would like to visit the circuit.

However, it is doubtful Moss would compete in the actual racing. A professional driver, Moss would probably decline to drive on a strange track with amateurs.

Moss has held lap records on nearly every major track in Europe and South America.

MOORE LOSES TITLE

It's Politics Says Archie

ROME (AP)—Archie Moore said today the National Boxing Association took the world light-heavyweight championship from him because of "politics."

"These gentlemen that call themselves the NBA—I don't think they are doing the boxing sport any good," said the ageless boxer who has held the light-heavyweight crown more or less continuously since 1952.

The NBA withdrew recognition of Moore because he had not defended his title in more than a year.

"I am ready, willing and able to defend the title at the proper time," Archie said.

He blamed Feature Sports Inc., which had a contract to promote the bout, for the delay in holding a title fight with Eric Schoepner of Germany.

David Ott, president of the NBA, Tuesday notified Moore the NBA has withdrawn recognition of Moore as light-heavyweight champion of the world.

Okanagan Loop Bouts Marred by Violence

By CANADIAN PRESS

The Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League scene ripped with violence Tuesday night.

Penticton's Vs ran rings around Kelowna Packers and dumped the five-times losers 10-3.

At Merritt, 600 fans booed the Grand Luckies as they took a 5-3 licking from Kamloops Chiefs.

The second period at Penticton was broken up by a brawl that emptied both benches. Ed Moskalof of Vs and Jim Middleton of Kelowna battled in front of the net while Buddy Evans of Penticton and Bill Swarbrick mugged each other at centre ice. All four got misconduct penalties.

It was worse at Merritt. In the last minute of play, Shorty Stiles of Kamloops tangled with Merritt's Bob Taylor while Chiefs Larry Berg took a 5-3 licking from Kamloops Chiefs.

The internal revenue service has required in a recent ruling that all winners of more than $600 on single events are to be identified by the tracks. The government is not, apparently, relying on the tracks to identify the multiple race winners.

DISMAL ENGLISH CRICKET SEASON

LONDON (CP)—The 1960 cricket season will probably go down as one of the blackest in the history of the game in England.

For Surrey, which finished last in the table, success weighed England's chances well down the table, success weighed England's chances well down the table, success weighed England's chances well down the table.

Appalling weather and the counter-attraction of television kept attendance at the Oval in its next summer. The twin sport pushed gates down. The lumpy by nearly 70,000 and speed attack of Brian Statham resulting loss of cash will force the club to operate on an average take over the $1 a year through the Springbok county's seven-year championship slip run that ended in 1959.

Only Yorkshire, county slip run that ended in 1959.

England batsmen had mixed up in the batting order to replace the injured openers. The additional strain of coping corner of the cricketing Com-wickets in 51 outings.

Cats Proved It Once, Now Must Do It Again

Around about last Friday, Victoria coach George Agar offered the opinion that he believed Cougars' next game would "separate the men from the boys."

They must of all looked like men to George the next night when Cougars clipped Winnipeg Warriors because Agar delayed a decision concerning a straight player trade between the two Western Hockey League clubs.

George is still thinking over Winnipeg's offer, but the same faces will be on the same side of the fence when the clubs square off for a second time in Memorial Arena tonight at 8.

WARRIORS OVERDUE

If there is a difference, it is that the law of averages is on Winnipeg's side tonight. The "Pegs" dropped a tough, 3-2 overtime victory to Vancouver Canucks Friday night and the Warriors, as they say in the trade, are due.

The setback was the fifth straight of the Warriors' current West Coast tour.

There's no doubt that some of Agar's "men" will again be playing for their jobs tonight despite the fact that the Cats are away to their fastest start in four years.

STILL STANDS

This is because... (a) Winnipeg's offer apparently still stands.

(b) Cougars have acquired the services of veteran Elliott Chorley, an aggressive type who can play either centre, on a wing or on defence.

(c) The National Hockey League's Toronto Maple Leafs still "owe" Cougars a forward in order to finalize a deal completed earlier this season.

Chorley, a four-year veteran of WHL wars, has already arrived in town but will not play until he skates himself into condition.

GREAT COMEBACK

At Vancouver the Canucks came through with a goal in the final 30 seconds of regulation time and another in overtime to defeat Winnipeg and maintain their undefeated status.

Ron Hutchinson scored at 3:18 of the overtime period to give Vancouver its fourth straight victory. Frank Roggeveen had saved the game for the Canucks by scoring with only 29 seconds left in the period to force overtime.

The teams played to a scoreless first period. It was 1-1 at the end of the second and 2-2 at the end of regulation time.

Orland Kurtenbach opened the scoring midway through the second when he caught the top right-hand corner with a shot from 20 feet.

Al Nicholson tied the score for Winnipeg with a minute and a half left in the period when he beat rookie goaltender George Wood from six feet with a hard shot to the right-hand corner.

ALMOST GRAB WIN

Although outplayed, Winnipeg almost won the game when Gerry Brisson teamed up with Gordie Redahl and scored with only 38 seconds remaining in the third period.

Nine Cities Want New Franchises In American Loop

NEW YORK (AP)—American League executives met here today to discuss action on its approved vote to expand to 10 teams for the 1962 baseball season.

President Joe Cronin's circuit faces a much more difficult problem than did the National League nine days ago when it swiftly grabbed Houston and New York in the first expansion move in 62 years.

While the National had only two cities in mind, the American is undecided which two to choose from among Toronto, Dallas-Fort Worth, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Los Angeles. Other applicants for the ninth and 10th franchises include Buffalo, N.Y., Oakland, Calif., Seattle, San Diego and Denver.

It is highly possible that no decision will be reached at this meeting, which may go into the next day. The junior circuit is confronted by internal problems which must be solved before the club owners get around to expansion.

"We're hopeful of coming out of the meeting with two new cities," said Cronin, "but I don't want to make a prediction as to what will happen... But I know this. It will be one of the most important meetings in American League history."

The American League virtually is unanimous in wanting to place a franchise in Los Angeles, currently the exclusive territory of the Nationals. The big question is how—by expansion or by moving another franchise?

The death of Arnold Johnson, owner of Kansas City Athletics, and the apparent desire of his widow to sell the franchise, has the other AL owners up in the air. They feel the eventual new owners may request a move to the west coast city.

Hawks Trounce Montreal, 8-4; Take Over Lead

CHICAGO (CP)—The current National Hockey League campaign is shaping up as a battle between the defending champion Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks, who now lead the league.

At the moment, the Hawks seem to have the upper hand in most departments.

Tuesday night, the Hawks defeated the Canadiens in Chicago 8-4 adding insult to injury after having beaten the Habs 4-2 on Montreal ice last Saturday.

Right-winger Eddie Litzenberger scored two goals and two assists and left-winger Bobby Hull was credited with two assists. Both are in a four-way tie for sixth place in the NHL scoring race.

Dickie Moore counted twice for Montreal and Bill Hicks and Henri Richard added singles.

The Canadiens have dropped four of their last five games. Goalie Jacques Plante has allowed an average of four goals a game and four players are injured.

FATTEN SCORING POINTS

Earl Balfour, Murray Balfour, Red Hay, Eric Nesterenko and Al McDonald scored Chicago's other goals.

Dickie Moore counted twice for Montreal and Bill Hicks and Henri Richard added singles.

CARRIED FROM RINK

Phil Goyette had to be carried out on a stretcher and defenseman Bob Turner and Bill Hicks had to undergo facial repairs Tuesday night.

Turner needed 10 stitches for a facial wound and Hicks nine.

Goyette was taken to hospital with what appeared to be a broken ankle. However, hospital authorities later said he was discharged after X-rays showed no damage to the ankle.

Some observers point to Plante as the possible reason for Canadiens' bad showing.

In addition to the 12 goals the Hawks pumped past him in two games, Detroit scored six goals and Toronto three in Canadiens' two other defeats.

Plante, who boasts a lifetime goals-against average of 2.11, best among active goalkeepers, is in a slump—worst of his career—and has a sore ankle.

However, nothing seems to be wrong with the rest of the team—offensively.

Five Canadiens are in the top six positions in the scoring race and four of them—Moore, Bernie Geoffrion, Jean Beliveau and Richard—in the first four.

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Fred McLeod, 78-year-old professional golfer at Columbia Country Club, Chevy Chase, Md., has been named to the PGA Hall of Fame.

McLeod, who can still shoot his age or under, started in professional golf some 57 years ago and won or was a serious contender in every major golf tournament between 1903 and 1930.

Among the end-of-season re-arrangements was Alex Bedser, mainstay of the England and Surrey bowling between 1946 and 1953. During his 14-year first-class career he took a world record total of 236 Test wickets in 51 outings.

ONLY YORKSHIRE GAINED

Two broken wrists prevented England from solving the chronic problem of finding a pair of opening batsmen. Lancashire's Geoff Pullar was the first casualty in May, returning just in time to watch his partner, Raman Subba Row, suffer a compound fracture after two good Test innings.

Colin Cowdrey, already deputizing for the indisposed Peter May as captain, had to move up in the batting order to replace the injured openers.

VIKING VIEWS

By LES MILLIN

Victoria College's mighty rugby team came tumbling down last week with a crash that is still ringing in their ears, but the oval-ball boys are determined to come back fighting.

In Tuesday's game against Royal Roads "A" team, two players were injured, including Gray Eaton, the team captain. And the battle with Oak Bay Reds on Saturday removed /dam Ustik, another offensive threat, from the land of the uninjured.

Roads downed the Vikings, 14-8, and the campus crew lost, 12-8, to Oak Bay.

Biggest loss to the Varsity side is Eaton, whose fractured wrist incurred in Tuesday's game will keep him out of the forward line for at least four weeks. Ted Chamberlain, also injured on Tuesday, has recovered enough for play later this week. The torn cartilage in Ustik's knee bars him from action for an indefinite period. Nevertheless, the Vikings are making victory plans.

Craig Andrews, rugby representative on the college athletic council, said Tuesday: "This team is as optimistic as ever. We have good material, and we are looking forward to a good year. Injuries are part of the game; we just take them in our stride and try to win anyway."

Coach of the team, Campbell Forbes, emphasized in an interview that the team has "spirit, lots of spirit. What they lack is experience, they have in team spirit."

Just when the boys will have a chance to redeem themselves is uncertain. Their next game was to have been with James Bay on Saturday, but that tussle has been postponed.

When the Vikings get on the field again, watch out! They're loaded for bear.

Basketball makes its bow tonight when the college second team meets the Optimists at Mount View High School. The preliminary game will also feature a college team, as the women's squad faces Dockyard at 7 p.m.

In the cards for our star women athletes—the "A" grass hockey team—is a trip to Vancouver next week to play in the Evergreen Conference games at the University of British Columbia on Nov. 11, 12 and 13.

The week following, the college team will play in the Bridgman Cup tournament in Victoria. Victoria College tied for first place in the trophy chase last year.

The girls have yet to be beaten this year, and their chances for the Bridgman Cup, which is emblematic of the Vancouver Island championship, seem very good. How they will make out in the Evergreen Conference games is something else, because the team has not played a university team this season.

Date to mark on your calendar is November 12, this year's Homecoming at Victoria College. There will be athletic events to watch most of the day, and into the evening.

Rugby and soccer games are slated in the afternoon, along with a volleyball tournament as indoor entertainment. Not all the plans are definite yet, but the volleyball games will be played between this year's representative team and former players, and the Athletic Council versus a faculty team.

The evening's attraction will be a basketball game between the senior Vikings and former players for the college, which will show how the current Vikings stack up against such former stars as Bob Tomlinson, Dave Black and Dave Nelson.

All athletic events will be held at the Gordon Head campus on Finnerly Road.

High rollers for the bowling club in the past week were Heather McDonald and Barry Saunders. Heather took the women's high single with a 224 and the high triple with 605, while Barry got men's high single with 303 and men's high triple with 729. Team at the top was the Pirates (that's a familiar phrase) with 3227 for three games and 1102 for high single.

Two volleyball games were scheduled today at Gordon Head, against Oak Bay and Royal Roads.

Victoria College's ice hockey team has obtained a coach. The team can play only late at night due to demand for the ice at the Arena, and this has hampered the club.

KEN HIGGS

... tries new patterns

Ken Picks Right Time To Round Into Shape

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Ken Higgs appears to be his bashing old self again and that could be it if you're looking for a reason to favor Victoria Drakes Saturday.

Man or beast, there's nothing in Canadian intermediate football circles to match "the Rumbler" when he's at his best. And Higgs, says Drakes coach Jack Patrick, started to show his old-time form only about two weeks ago.

Higgs came up with his best performance of the season when Drakes mauled Vancouver-Grizzlies 47-8. He was even better last Saturday afternoon when Victoria nailed down top place in the Pacific Coast Conference with a 27-13 nod over Surrey Rams.

And why? "Just got into shape," answers Higgs.

JUST IN TIME

You can't fault his timing. The Rumbler is ready to ramble just as Drakes get set for Saturday's sudden-death league final against the Grizzlies.

Nor can you fault him for starting a little slower than usual. Higgs didn't pick up his gear until the season was just about to start. And at 30—after 14 years of ball-toting—it's not as easy to round into shape as it was at 20.

Two weeks ago, Higgs rushed for 74 yards against the big Vancouver line, averaging 5.3 yards a carry. He seemingly saved his best for the big down, when Drakes needed five or six yards to move the yardsticks.

And if Higgs' critics claim he is slowing down at 30, he shows no signs of it on those power sweeps around end.

AN OLD PRO

He still picks up his blockers like the pro he once was. And if the blockers are a trifle late in arriving, he bowls over would-be tacklers with power. Higgs carrying the brunt of Drakes' ground attack, plus the addition of several new pass patterns, could spell bad news for Grizzlies.

Patrick, Chuck Weeks and Murray Halkett have been sharpening up their passing arms all week. Weeks, still the best candidate for league all-star quarterback honors, is expected to start for Drakes.

Patrick, incidentally, is convinced of one thing. Grizzlies, who upset Drakes in last year's league final, won't be as bad as they were two weeks ago.

"Vancouver has been working out twice a day—at 6 in the morning and again in the evening.

"Pete Thodos, Roy Gardner, and Cece Stephenson and two of their linemen missed that game. Stephenson (Vancouver's first-string quarterback) watched us from the stands and figures he learned a few of our defensive weaknesses," concluded Patrick.

Saturday's game at Macdonald Park gets under way at 2:15 p.m.

Ottawa Approves Tulips for Float

OTTAWA (CP)—Board of Control Tuesday approved a new design for the capital's float in the Grey Cup parade in Vancouver Nov. 26.

The first design by a Vancouver display company was ridiculed by the controllers. They said they couldn't make out whether the centre-piece was supposed to be a horse, a cow or a camel.

The Vancouver firm submitted a new design which won approval: Three pots containing Rough Rider cheer leaders and 12-inch tulips. The theme: The home of The Canadian Tulip Festival.

world title arose by the retirement of Mexican Jose Becerra. Belgian referee Philippe de Becker gave Halimi, the 28-year-old French-Algerian, the verdict over Gilroy, despite the views of most ringside observers that the 24-year-old Irishman had done enough to win.

The decision brought loud boos from the crowd of 11,000. In the ninth round Halimi suffered a badly cut eye that turned his face into a crimson mess.

Halimi, world bantamweight champion between April, 1957, and July, 1959, scored the only real knockdown of the fight, in the 13th.

After the fight, Philippe Filippi, Halimi's manager, said his man definitely would meet the winner of the Los Angeles fight to sort out the tangle of world championship.

'Hole-in-Heart' Boxer Suffers First Defeat

LONDON (AP)—Eddie Beattie, the "hole in the heart" Canadian lightweight champ, Tuesday night suffered his first professional defeat in 21 fights before the two-fisted attack of Englishman Phil McGrath in a lightweight bout over 10 rounds.

Referee Jack Hart lifted McGrath's hand at the end of the 10th round and gave the Englishman a points victory. Beattie boxed for Canada as a lightweight in the 1956 Olympic Games and turned professional shortly afterward.

He had five fights and was coming up for his sixth when, during a medical examination, a doctor detected a heart murmur.

Checks followed and it was found that Beattie had been born with a hole in his heart. An operation followed and it was so successful that after a year he was back in the ring.

Stan NL Comeback Man of 1960

NEW YORK (AP)—Stan "The Man" Musial, whose brilliant playing career appeared to be coming to an end four months ago, has been named the National League "comeback player of the year" for 1960 in the annual Associated Press poll.

For regaining his position as one of the circuit's most respected batters, Musial received 55 votes from among 183 baseball writers participating in the balloting.

Southpaw pitcher Curt Simmons, Musial's St. Louis teammate, was second with 44 followed by pitcher Bob Friend of Pittsburgh, 30, and outfielder Richie Ashburn of Chicago, 11.

Musial, a seven-time batting titleholder with .255 last year, was hitting .235 on June 11.

Over the final three and one-half months of the campaign, the 39-year-old outfielder-first baseman batted .292. He finished with an average of .275.

Park Planned on Koksilah

The provincial government has imposed a park reserve along the banks of the Koksilah River on Vancouver Island.

A 285-acre area on the north side of the river, which runs into Cowichan Bay, has been set aside for future development as a park site.

The area was previously under the Vancouver Island Plantation Forest Reserve, established in 1944. Park officials say that it is likely the reserve will be held for some time.

Although the area is slated for development, it won't be within the next year, as other projects have priority.

PRESENTATION TONIGHT

'Friend of Youth' Award to Ex-Miner

NANAIMO—Joe Sutton, 83, who has worked on behalf of youngsters for the 47 years he has lived here, was declared winner Tuesday of the B.C. Youths' Best Friend award.

The contest is sponsored by Vancouver Hadassah, a Jewish women's group, and The Vancouver Sun. He will receive a host of prizes at a presentation tonight in Vancouver, with the "topper" an all-expense-paid five-day trip to New York for two.

MOUNTIE NOMINATED
There were dozens of nominees, among them RCMP Const. R. G. Brookbank, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Brookbank, 2630 Quadra Street, Victoria, who is known as "Mr. Minor Sport" at Williams Lake.

However, Joe Sutton was selected because his dedication to youth has been a life-long affair. He had the whole of Nanaimo rooting for him, with Mayor Pete Maffeo heading the list.

IN MINES AT 11
He was born in Staffordshire, England, and went to work in coal mines at the age of 11. He emigrated to Canada in 1912, going first to Fernie, and arriving in Nanaimo in 1913.

Still working as a miner, he spent his leisure time working for youngsters, and in 1920 organized the Nanaimo and District Junior and Juvenile Soccer Football Association.

'McKELVIE MOUNTAIN' PROPOSED

COBBLE HILL—A move by friends of the late Bruce McKelvie to have Cobble Hill—the mountain, not the village—renamed as Bruce McKelvie Memorial Park, has been given tentative approval by Recreation Minister Earle Westwood.

The eminent boasts a view of the Gulf Islands, southern Vancouver Island, and Georgia Strait from its three peaks.

Mr. McKelvie, veteran newspaperman and historian, had made his home here for many years. Investigators of the park plan are George Bonner, C. R. Eldred and Stephen Dougan.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE HELPS BREAK DOWN FATS IN THE DIGESTIVE TRACT
Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fats... actually breaks them down. It is an established fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fats are broken down and form a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

For this work he became "the grand old man of soccer," but he worked just as hard for other forms of athletics, including lacrosse, track and field sports, basketball, badminton and softball.

He served as janitor in the community gymnasium, and when he retired in 1923 became volunteer manager of the Halliburton Street playground. He is a lifetime member of the Foresters and organized the society's Boys' Lodge.

Mr. Sutton is president of Nanaimo Old Age Pensioners' Association, and leader of the annual drive for funds to carry on youth work.

His wife died eight years ago.

Ratepayers Reject School Tax Bid On Cars, Boats

NANAIMO—Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association defeated a resolution presented by R. Eldred, Cobble Hill, that cars and pleasure boats be taxed for school purposes.

Walter Tickson, Nanaimo representative, said the association has been trying for years to have taxes for schools removed from property, and that Mr. Eldred's resolution would be a reversal of that.

LAKE COWICHAN—Carrying a loaded revolver without a permit cost a Youbou mill worker a $50 fine in Lake Cowichan police court Tuesday.

Francis Thomas Stratford, 45, Youbou, was prospecting in the Nitinat area Oct. 9 when checked by a game warden who found the revolver in his possession.

RCMP confiscated the revolver.

'I'm Good As Man Of Sixty'

John E. Whittaker, Duncan, who said he was 83, "but as good as a man of 60," was fined $10 in Duncan police court Tuesday when he admitted a charge of failing to yield the right of way when entering the Trans-Canada Highway from a service station driveway.

He also had his driving licence endorsed.

Cpl. Gordon Irving, RCMP, said Whittaker collided with a semi-trailer. When asked his age, Whittaker replied: "I'm 83 but as good as a man of 60. I do all my own housework. I've lived a good life."

SHIP DISASTER SURVIVORS:

'Our Prayers Were Answered'

CAMPBELL RIVER—Cold and alone on a tiny rubber raft, shipwrecked fishermen had their prayers answered when they saw a ship head toward them.

The freighter, Alaska Prince, took four men from the raft. Fred Phillips, 34, was dead, and Bill Sigmund, 37, skipper of the foundered Vancouver seiner, Sea Pride II, died on the ship before it reached here.

Survivors were George Wiseman, mate, and Gary Sigmund, 21, nephew of the dead skipper. All were from Vancouver.

Wiseman said a huge wave capsized the $60,000 craft at about 2:30 a.m. Tuesday as it neared Cape Mudge, southeast of here.

They were on the boat's deck when the wave hit, and slid to the water with the raft.

For three hours they tossed, and were repeatedly capsized. It was the tiny light on the raft and the cries of the two men which attracted Capt. John Eveleigh and his crew on the Alaska Prince, and enabled them to make the rescue.

"We prayed to God that someone would come," Wiseman said. "We were shivering with the cold—it was a cold, driving wind."

Cape Mudge is known as one of the most treacherous areas in the Georgia Strait region. Meeting place of strong tidal currents, it becomes a seething cauldron in a storm, and has claimed several lives.

SUBMARINE CABLES FOR ISLANDS

Submarine cables soon will carry power and telephone service for new communities of Island dwellers off the Saanich peninsula coast.

The provincial government has given permission for Coal Island Ltd. to send two cables across the sea bed to Knapp, Goudge and Coal Islands, off Deep Cove.

One will carry electricity, the other will be a telephone line.

They will serve new subdivisions on the three islands.

It is hoped the area will become a popular site for summer homes—close to Victoria, yet isolated enough for seclusion.

A cabinet order Tuesday approved an easement for the development company giving it right-of-way over crown lands for its cables.

Movies to Bolster Fight On Chemainus Breakwater

CHEMAINUS—Chemainus Chamber of Commerce will go all out—including movie making—to try and convince the federal department of public works it was wrong in ruling out a breakwater for Chemainus Harbor.

The chamber presented a brief to the department this spring-urging construction of a $285,000 rock fill breakwater, but the request was rejected. Company with the biggest investment in the harbor, MacMillan, Bloedel & Powell River Ltd. estimated at over $10,000,000, has agreed to back a second brief to the government.

Chemainus Towing Co., Rod and Gun Club, fishermen and Nanaimo MP Walter Matthews will support the brief.

2,000 BOATS
The chamber maintains a breakwater is needed to insure the year-round protection of the 2,000 pleasure and fishing craft that use the harbor. Total waterfront investment is $17,000,000.

To make their brief more impressive, the chamber will prepare a special 16mm. movie of Chemainus Harbor illustrating the activity along the waterfront, suggested location and need for a breakwater.

"From all sources, the federal government has received millions in revenue from Chemainus over the years and all we have to show is one government wharf, one spar buoy and a flashing light, said chamber president James Webster. "There is not one permanent government structure to show for 99 years of progress and taxes. Even the post office and customs office are rented property."

UNDERGROUND DEPOTS FOR BRITISH H-BOMBS

LONDON (Reuters)—The London Daily Express reports that underground British arsenals are being built in Cyprus, Aden, Singapore and East Africa.

A British Defence Ministry spokesman declined comment on the report.

The Daily Express said the underground arsenals program was "the secret behind the government's new plan for dispersing Britain's V-bombers to avoid destruction on the ground by sudden attack."

It said British jet-bombers "will rotate between Britain and the arsenals so that the Russians will never be certain where the bombers are."

Anti-Catholic Pamphlets in Great Demand

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—A publisher of religious tracts said Tuesday anti-Catholic pamphlets make up the bulk of his business.

Cyrus Osterhus said the demand for anti-Catholic literature has increased 400 per cent in recent months.

Shipments of his tracts recently totalled about 3,500, 000 copies a week, he said. Although only about two per cent of the 1,350 different pamphlets could be described as anti-Catholic, they now make up the bulk of his business.

Osterhus did not regard the publications as an entry into politics by his firm.

"We are only filling a demand for such literature in the religious field," he said. "There have been no unusually large orders. As nearly as we can determine the literature is being distributed by private individuals, rather than by politicians or an organized group."

The motion marked the fourth attempt by Coun. Leslie Passmore to have a December vote on the issue.

It was defeated by a vote of six to one.

Coun. Passmore is against the 33-acre site on the east side of the Patricia Bay Highway. He favors a site in some other district, preferably in the vicinity of Royal Oak.

Patrick J. Holden and Sandy Sands, both 20, attempted to steal gasoline from a car parked at Vancouver and McClure at 2 a.m. Saturday.

SHE'S NOT PREGNANT

Margaret Wants A Bigger House

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret is looking for a new home, but not because she's expecting a baby.

"She's not pregnant," said a source close to the Royal Family.

"The place she's living in now is too small for the princess and her husband. Before they start a family, they want a bigger house."

The princess and husband Antony Armstrong-Jones now live in what amounts to an apartment in Kensington Palace.

It consists of two bedrooms, a communal bathroom, one dressing room, a fairly large living room, a dining room and servant quarters.

"The princess and her husband have their eyes on another residence in Kensington Palace," said the informant.

Asked about reports the princess may be expecting, the court source said:

"Up until last Tuesday—a week from today—she wasn't, and that's the gospel as I know it."

Questioned about a title for the princess' husband, the informant said:

"When they first became engaged, the Queen thought of making him an earl, but on advice from a number of respected people, she changed her mind."

"Should Princess Margaret have a child anytime soon, the Queen is prepared to give them a title."

"The Queen still regards him as an extremely nice young man, and a very good photographer, but as yet, not quite ripe for a title."

AIRLINER PILOT AFTER LANDING AT WRONG AIRPORT:

'It Was an Honest-to-Goodness Mistake'

LONDON (AP) — A Pan American 707 jet piloted by a Vancouver man missed its route on the approaches to London airport today. It landed instead at Northolt, a Royal Air Force base five miles to the north.

Pan American ordered the 41 passengers taken by bus to London airport for customs clearance.

An inquiry will be held. The airline said the pilot, Capt. Warren Beale, who now lives on Long Island, N.Y., cleared to come down at London airport and came down perfectly — but at Northolt. Capt. Beale telephoned his London airport operations room a few minutes after landing on the flight from Hong Kong.

He told reporters later: "It was an honest-to-goodness mistake — nothing more and nothing less . . . I've been to London airport scores of times. I can't imagine how this happened."

A Child's Cry or Talking Doll?

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Tales of tragedy and bizarre incidents were told by survivors of the blast which shattered a busy downtown department store here Tuesday.

Ten persons were killed and more than 80 sent to hospital. Eight bodies were recovered and two others were known to be under the rubble of the two-storey Metropolitan Stores, Limited, building. The seven bodies identified were those of women.

The blast, believed triggered by natural gas, punched out the rear wall of the reinforced-concrete building on busy Ouellette Avenue, Windsor's main business street, and collapsed the upper storeys into a basement toyland.

Police constable Robert Horne, his nose and mouth bleeding, struggled for hours in the debris to trace the source of a baby's cry, unsure whether he had heard the voice of a child or a noise from a pile of talking dolls on a wrecked toy counter. He did not find the baby.

Elsewhere in the piled masonry and shattered beams a newspaper photographer found two goldfish swimming in a tiny pot filled with water.

DOLLS CRY OUT

"It's eerie in the basement, district fire chief Emmett Byrne said. "There is no light and you stumble through the black. Then you step on a toy doll that cries out. You stop and listen and there is nothing."

A purse found among the bricks was the first sign searchers found of Mrs. Pauline Montgomery. Hours later friends located her body at the morgue and broke the news to her five children.

Mrs. Ella Marie Myles died because she stayed in the store for her customary tea and muffin at the grill.

"She was looking for a hat, but I knew she would go to the lunch counter for her cup of tea and muffin," said Mrs. Yvonne Knowles who worked with Mrs. Myles at a city ice cream store.

"When I was told there was an explosion at the store I knew Marie was in it."

COOK DIED AT WORK

Mrs. Anne Marie Prodeous, 28, who worked as a cook at the grill, was killed when the floor under the lunch counter collapsed, carrying customers and staff into the wreckage below.

The collapse of the counter also took the life of Montreal-born Mrs. Anne Dobransky, 49, who was having a soft drink with her four-year-old grandson, Jeffrey.

"I heard a crash and never seen grandma no more," said the boy from his hospital bed. He escaped severe injury.

'If Ye Break Faith ... We Shall Not Sleep'

By TONY DICKASON

The red color of the poppies represents the battlefields and the flowers themselves are symbols of remembrance.

They are generally worn close to the heart, on lapels, John McCrae summed it up before his wartime death in 1918: "If ye break faith with us who die, we shall not sleep, though poppies grow in Flanders fields."

75,000 Poppies

This keeping of the faith will have tangible expression in Greater Victoria Saturday, Nov. 5 when poppies go on sale.

There will be about 75,000 of them!

Sale of the poppies on street corners have a three-pronged purpose. Veterans in hospital with war wounds make the poppies for which they receive a small fee. Then money from the sale is spent to help needy servicemen and their families in this area.

The third aim is, of course, a small gesture of remembrance towards those who suffered and died and those veterans who are still suffering. H. L. Butteris, manager of the Poppy Day campaign, says from three to 10 grocery orders daily are distributed from permanent fund headquarters, 1115 Langley Street.

'No Strings'

"There are no strings attached," he states, predicting in the face of current unemployment that even broadened help will be needed this winter.

Close to 100 volunteers will sell poppies from downtown street corners in the municipalities. These come from women's auxiliaries of the Canadian Legion, the IODE, drill teams, wives of service club members and individual volunteers.

Persons wishing to help may contact Mrs. H. F. Jarvis, 1239 Vista Heights, at EV 3-7863.

"If we get the canvassers, we get the returns," says Mr. Butteris.

He is keeping fingers crossed for good weather. If weather is bad sales drop as much as 30 per cent.

grossed $9,700. Objective this year is $10,000.

"The farther we get away from actual war years the more difficult the campaign becomes," said the poppy sales manager.

New generations have to learn what it is all about. To this end, 15,000 poppies are distributed to children in all Greater Victoria schools, whether they can afford to pay for them or not.

It is one method of keeping remembrance alive. Wreaths are also available, priced from $3 to $30. Many of these are sent far distances to where fathers and sons lie buried.

Three Types

There are three types of poppies available this year: the small lapel type, long-stemmed poppies for use in churches or restaurants, and large flowers with rubber suction stickers attached for use on windows or windshields.

Actual poppy sale will start Friday night — the shopping night — on parking lots of major stores, and will carry through to dusk Saturday.

B.C. Asks Ottawa Aid For Port Hardy Road

$18 Million Job Bennett Estimates

A northern Vancouver Island highway from Nanaimo to Port Hardy is the major local project in Premier Bennett's five-year works plan proposed today to battle unemployment.

Mr. Bennett virtually ignored the issue of tax-sharing at a conference on that subject in Ottawa today to present his $411,839,600 program.

He wants the federal government to assist in costs and to launch the program immediately with $50,007,600 spent this winter in B.C.

COST $18,000,000

The Island highway project would cost a total of $18,000,000, he said.

This year's section would consist of clearing, grading and graveling from Duncan Bay to Sayward, a distance of 35 miles, at a cost of $2,800,000.

Another major project in the five-year program for the Island would be paving the new Alberni to Tofino road, a distance of 70 miles. This would cost $3,000,000.

NIMPKISH BRIDGE

Mr. Bennett's highway projects for this winter also include a stretch of the northern road from Port McNeill to Beaver Cove, to cost $600,000, and to include a bridge over the Nimpkish River.

A $400,000 road would also be put in at Comox from the RCAF station to Courtenay.

Ferry landings would be constructed in the Gulf Islands on Texada, Pender, Saturna and Salt Spring.

Access roads to Crown forest resources would be built at Port Hardy at a cost of $496,000, and to mineral resources at Cowichan and Nitinat Lake for $300,000.

Forest protection work would include clearing and slashing at Tofino, Campbell River, Duncan and Nanaimo areas, costing a total $68,000.

Reforestation would include Jordan River, Cowichan Lake and Campbell River areas costing a total $140,000.

SCIENCE BUILDING

Among the public works projects is a science building for Victoria College to cost $2,000,000.

Parks projects include Long Beach campsite, Sprout Lake and John Hart picnic and campsite and development of Newcastle Island for a total of $150,000.

Besides the west coast road and northern Island highway, five-year projects include spending $7,000,000 for a Port McNeill to Zeballos road, and $2,900,000 for building another 25 miles and paving 20 miles of the west coast road from Jordan River.

Detectives Probe Papers in Search For Missing Man

Search for a missing Vancouver businessman swung briefly to Victoria Tuesday as homicide detectives investigated the business background of Daniel Renix.

Renix is alleged to have had complicated business affairs prior to vanishing Sept. 29 after taking a prospective buyer for a cruise in his 26-foot pleasure craft.

Detectives Gerry Tate and Larry Short searched records at the securities branch of the attorney-general's department and the office of the registrar of companies, another branch of the AG's office.

School Bylaw Up to Voters November 19

Large Vote Urged On Saanich Issue

A twice-defeated Saanich school bylaw will be submitted to rural ratepayers again on Saturday, Nov. 19.

School Board 63 chairman J. D. Helps announced today the date of the vote after receiving permission from the B.C. government to submit the $784,000 issue to the ratepayers for the third time.

The bylaw will include a new secondary school, a North Saanich high school annex and improvements at Royal Oak, Beaver Lake, Mount Newton, Saanichton and Sidney schools. Gordon Hayward, Saanich municipal clerk, has been appointed returning officer.

Polling booths will be located in schools of the district.

MONEY NEEDED

Mr. Helps called for a large turnout of Saanich peninsula voters to ensure passage of the bylaw designed to alleviate over-crowding in present schools.

He was backed by Reeve George Chatterton who said the lack of school facilities is deterring people from moving into Saanich.

Two similar bylaws defeated in February of this year and December 1959 forced schools to convert poorly ventilated basement space into makeshift classrooms at Cordova Bay and Brentwood elementary schools.

EXPLOSIVE POINT

A. G. Blair, secretary of school district 63, said the school population now numbering 2,825, had reached an "explosive point."

"About 500 pupils are now on swing shift at Mount Newton High School," he said. "About 280 pupils start school at 8 a.m. and end at 12. The remainder attend classes in the afternoon."

The main purpose in the new bylaw is the construction of a $300,000 secondary school on Wesley Road.

NOTHING BUT THE BEST FOR CITY AIR CADETS

Victoria's Kinsmen 89 Squadron, Air Cadets, has good reason to boast it's among the best in Canada.

WO1 Edward Henly was today announced winner of the "best cadet" award for all of Canada, gained at the summer training camp this year.

WO2 Brian Forrest was today named as No. 2 cadet among 100 from all parts of Canada who attended a recent senior leaders corps training session.

And the band of Kinsmen 89 has been chosen to receive the Worley Trophy for the best air cadet band in B.C.

WO1 Henly and WO2 Forrest will go to Sea Island Monday, where they will each address the annual meeting of the air cadet committee of B.C.

During the meeting, WO1 Henly will accept the Worley Trophy on behalf of the squadron.

3-Year Sentence For Saanich Man

A 34-year-old Saanich man report and sentence to Nov. 2, was sentenced in city police court today to three years in B.C. Penitentiary for his part in the early Monday burglary of Gibson's Bowladrome, 914 Yates.

Harry Williams, who had previous criminal convictions—the last as recently as two years ago for breaking and entering in Saanich—was charged with James Robertson, 20, following the entry just after midnight Sunday.

Cons. James Ramsay, who found the burglary, said $192 cash and $108 in cheques was stolen from an office and from two cigarette vending machines in the building.

Both men pleaded guilty to the charges and Robertson was remanded for probation of Vancouver is in the office of RCMP Superintendent H. A. Larsen, world renowned Arctic navigator, and twice conqueror of the Northwest Passage, whose retirement was announced in Ottawa today. At 61, he had served with the RCMP for more than 30 years and was commanding officer of the doughty Arctic ship St. Roch, which has also "retired" in B.C. to serve as a maritime museum. Superintendent Larsen stated Tuesday he plans to remain in Ottawa for a time, but wants to retire on the coast.

QUIET LIFE IN VICTORIA

MONTE ROBERTS

Had a heart-to-heart talk with Little Miss Muffet, the small female-type cat who lives in our house, last night.

Imagine lots of other people around these parts had talks with the cats and dogs who live in their houses.

Topic of conversation: Insurance can now be taken out on dogs and cats who live in various people's houses in Victoria.

Insurance covers death, disability, hospitalization, maternity, wounds incurred in losing fights, and liability, such as people tripping over cat or dog and falling flat on face.

Asked Little Miss Muffet whether she thought it good idea to take out insurance on her.

Miss Muffet said, as you wish.

Aren't you thrilled? I asked Little Miss Muffet.

I should be thrilled, Miss Muffet replied, because YOU collect money should I die, be disabled, hospitalized, lose a fight, or somebody trips over me?

Ha, said Miss Muffet.

(You may have noticed Miss Muffet missed one item in the list covered by insurance. She's not that kind of female-type cat.)

I told Miss Muffet she should be grateful I even considered taking out insurance on her.

Better I should take out insurance on you, Miss Muffet remarked. After all, I haven't even used up one of my nine lives yet, and as for you...

This rubbed my fur the wrong way, so I told Muffet cat insurance was only available to cats with a pedigree.

Pedigree, schmedigree, Muffet replied. I will have you know my ancestry goes 'way, 'way back, even unto the Egyptians, when a bunch of cats conned the Egyptians into a job protecting the granaries from mice.

There hasn't been a cat since did a lick of work, Miss Muffet said, and now you come along and ask me for my pedigree.

Never mind, I said, I can't insure you unless you produce your pedigree. Where is it?

Where's yours? asked Miss Muffet.

Ah, er, I said.

What a pity, said Miss Muffet. It would have been such an economical way of putting a bounty on your hide.

For cat's sake, I said.

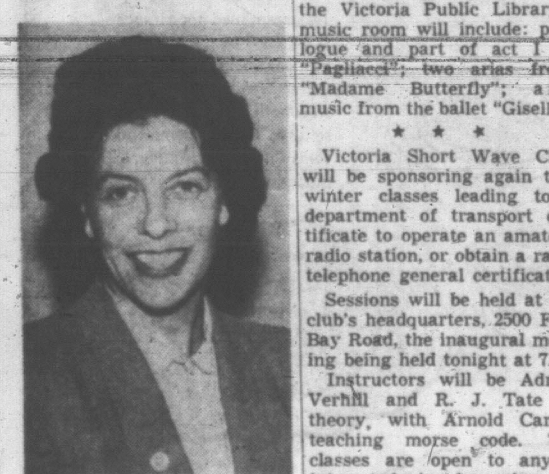

Exactly, said Miss Muffet.

CHARLES NELLES "home-owners' voice"

He Kept It Up And It Cost Him $25 in Court

A youth who taunted a police officer and threatened to sue was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to shouting and swearing on Courtney Street Tuesday night.

"Hit me, I'll sue you for it," 18-year-old John Michael Ross, 651 McKenzie, was quoted by Cons. John Burdny.

The constable said he stopped a car driven by Ross when he noticed it had no headlights. Ross jumped out and began a tirade against the officer, who warned him he would be charged with creating a disturbance if he kept it up.

He kept it up and was charged.

Ex-Saanich Councillor Runs in City

First salvo of the coming civic election was fired today by Charles Nelles, 44-year-old apartment house owner, who announced he will run for city council.

Mr. Nelles, former Saanich councillor, said he will run as an independent to give a voice for the 13,000 city home-owners on what has been "a downtown business-dominated" council in recent years.

Mr. Nelles is the second person to declare himself a candidate for one of the four aldermanic seats that will be filled by voters Dec. 8. Elgin Neish, Communist party member, who has contested several civic elections unsuccessfully, previously said he will run.

EXPECTED TO RUN

So far, retiring aldermen Arthur Dowell, A. J. Curtis, E. D. McEwen and H. D. Ramsay have not announced their intentions. But speculation is that all will seek reelection.

Nominations will close Dec. 1 and several more contenders are expected to enter the contest before then. Two school trustee vacancies for the city also will be filled by voters, but there will be no mayoralty election this year and so far there is no indication that ratepayers will be asked to vote on any money bylaws.

Mr. Nelles opened his campaign with tough talk aimed at surrounding municipalities and the provincial government which he claimed had been using Victoria's conveniences without paying their share of the cost.

SHOULD BE PROUD

"Victoria is the oldest city on the coast and it should be a proud place but because of the way its been used by its unruly neighbors and the government, it looks slatternly and its taxes are higher than they should be.

"Government Street looks like a used TV western set and its time council changed that."

He charged that the provincial government, which refuses to pay taxes on its property in the city, and the "great numbers" of residents from neighboring municipalities "have just looked on Victoria as a convenience."

"But our 13,000 home-owners have to pick up the tab for building roads so they can get in and out of the city as fast as possible," he said.

"And playing host to the provincial government has cost them $300,000 a year in supplying civic services without the government paying its bill."

He said while city assets, like the watershed, were sold or virtually given away for the benefit of the area, "our downtown section has become shabby and our 13,000 home-owners have not been looked after well enough."

He said it was true the Capital Improvement District Commission was spending money improving the whole area "but I think that money belongs to us and we could spend it better. Our future should be designed by our own council and not by an outside authority."

U.S. Consul-General Haydon Raynor of Vancouver today paid a courtesy call on B.C.'s new lieutenant-governor.

Mr. Raynor visited Maj. Gen. George Pearkes at Government House this afternoon.

Nick Dushenko, Churchill Hotel, was sentenced in city police court today to one year in jail—concurrent—on each of five false pretences charges involving $190.

He pleaded guilty to the offences, which arose from presenting worthless cheques.

New Holders Ideal for Use With Driftwood Creations

By PENNY SAVER

Some of the most attractive table arrangements I've seen have been made by artistic Victoria women with interesting, gnarled pieces of driftwood that they've picked up on local beaches. To help these versatile "beachcombers" one downtown store has a good stock of black cast iron candle holders that come complete with screw for attaching to your favorite piece of driftwood thus transforming it into an interesting table centre. These are selling at 75 cents each.

If you would prefer holders in a silver or gilded finish, store will spray them with no extra charge to you.

Talking of unusual arrangements, I've seen some novel candles that would be just the thing for titivating the bar in a rumpus room. Candles come in a set of four and are shaped like miniature wine bottles. Some are contained in imitation raffia holders that are so realistic you have to touch them to know otherwise! Sets are priced at $1.19.

Another item that's bound to appeal to a host is tiny anodized aluminum cocktail sticks imported from England. These come in a dainty blue and gold gift box and are shaped like gilded arrows. Box contains six dozen sticks and is priced at $2.

Superlatively feminine are unique plastic combs that have just arrived in one downtown store. In either pink, blue or white plastic, they have graceful curved handles that are encrusted with gold beading and floral designs highlighted with pearls. There are two sizes, one measures eight inches while the other is five inches in length—perfect for slipping into an evening bag! Combs are moderately priced at $1.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped today give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

St. Andrew's Cathedral Setting For Double Ring Wedding Vows

A double-ring ceremony took place last Saturday morning in St. Andrew's Cathedral when Marie Elizabeth Kirker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander T. Kirker, exchanged wedding vows with Edward John Longpre, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Longpre. Father A. McDonald officiated.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, wore a full-length dress of white tulle with skirt extending into a train. The bodice featured a sabrina neckline and was applied with a lace panel, extending from shoulders to waist. The sleeves ended with lily points. A waist-length veil with rose design embroidered around the edge was held with a lace tiara touched with seed pearls and sequins. The bride carried a missal, gift of the groom's sister, topped with pink roses and heather.

Attendants were Mrs. Gerald Kirker, matron of honor; Mrs. George Glover and Mrs. Barry Porter, bridesmaids, who were all gowned in pale blue tulle and organza.

The groom, his best man, Alvin Fischer, and the ushers, Ron Martin and Joe Dobble, were all dressed in white dinner jackets with black ties and cummerbunds. Master Hugh Glover and Master Kirk Longpre, cousins of the bride and groom, were ring bearers.

At a reception in the Golden

Slipper Supper Club, Father McDonald toasted the bride. Wedding cake was heart shaped, topped with pink roses and heather and surrounded with white candles and roses.

For a honeymoon in the Okanagan and to Portland and Seattle, Mrs. Longpre travelled in an off-white boucle sheath ensemble with Canadian squirrel stole. She wore deep beige accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses and carnations.

The young couple will make their home in Heather Apartments, 1044 Hillside Avenue.

ARE ART COMPETITIONS BAD?

HALIFAX (CP)—The advantages or disadvantages of children taking part in art competitions will be among subjects discussed at a conference here Nov. 8-12.

The Canadian Society for Education Through Art will hold its sixth national assembly in the Nova Scotia College of Art under chairmanship of Donald C. Mackay, national president and principal of the college.

The society opposes children's art competitions, contending they often lower the standard of children's art rather than improve it. It says co-operation, not competition, should be fostered through art education in the schools.

The layman's role in the society's program will also be discussed.

Years of Extra Life For Valuable Rugs and Carpets

Do you really know why rugs and carpets wear out? Constant use does dull their beauty by covering bright colors with dirt and grime. But far worse is the grinding away of the actual fibres from which the rug is made by sharp gritty particles deep within the pile. This can be prevented only by professional "deep cleaning" as done by experts at the CARPETFORUM. The people at the CARPETFORUM have the knowledge, use only the finest special cleaning agents and have the best equipment in Western Canada. The cost is most reasonable and estimates are FREE. Phone the CARPETFORUM at EV 3-2861. Only the CARPETFORUM, 1210 Wharf Street, can give your rugs and carpets the professional "deep cleaning" that will guarantee years of extra life. The CARPETFORUM on Wharf, phone EV 3-2861.

Indians Stop; White Woman Takes Over

CALGARY (CP)—The art of painting teepees, once the exclusive domain of the Indians, is being invaded by Mrs. J. M. Bunney Robins of Calgary, an attractive blonde.

Seven authentically-designed teepees to which Mrs. Robins has applied her brush will be used next summer by the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, an organization that sponsors horse-back-camping expeditions.

The Indians have not only stopped painting teepees, they have also given up making them. A local tent and awning firm supplies them.

To provide authenticity—and to help trail riders distinguish their temporary homes from those of their neighbors—Mrs. Robins drew on wide knowledge of Indian folklore to give each teepee an original, symbolic painted story.

Mothers' Auxiliary to 89 Kinsmen Air Cadets, home cooking stall, Friday at 7 p.m. Safeway store at Tillicum Road.

DEAR ABBY

Taking Precautions!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband was in hospital for surgery. When he was too weak to shave himself he had a young nurse with a tight uniform shave him. When he was able to walk around he could shave himself, but he still asked this young nurse with the tight uniform to shave him. I told him I could shave him if he couldn't himself, but he said I didn't know how. I know how as good as he did. When he left the hospital he gave her a five-dollar tip and hugged her neck. Now he says he wants to go back to the hospital and visit his old roommate, but I think he wants to see this nurse. He is 63 and so am I. Am I out of line for keeping him home?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: There's nothing wrong with building a snow fence before a blizzard hits, but I doubt if you have anything to worry about. It takes two to tango.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother and father. I am a 17-year-old boy and my brother is 15. My parents keep saying they want a little girl so they are trying again. Abby, when your mother is 44 and your father is 46, don't you think they should be satisfied with two boys?

DEAR THINK: Think again.

DEAR ABBY: Ever since I can remember I wanted to play piano. My father laughed at me and said music was for sissies. He tried to get me interested in sports, but I was never any good at it. (He was a good athlete.) I took piano lessons at school and stayed evenings to practice there.

When my mother bought me a spinet last Christmas I became the world's happiest boy. My father became the world's most disappointed man. Abby, I love music and my teacher says I have talent. I know I have failed my father and I am sorry, but what can I do to make it up to him? I am 14.

BIG DISAPPOINTMENT

DEAR BIG DISAPPOINTMENT: You haven't failed your father. Your father has failed you. We are not all cast from the same mold. The world needs Beethoven as well as baseball. Do the best you can with the talents you have, and don't feel guilty.

Chrysanthemums in white, pink and mauve tones, with ivy and autumn leaves, decorated the church for the ceremony at which Rev. T. D. B. Ragg officiated. Miss Anne Burridge sang "O Lord Most Holy." Milburn Hart gave his cousin in marriage.

Phil Lee's Two for the Show

BB (Worthwhile) B (For Rainy Days) A (Don't Miss) C (To put in time)

(BB) "PORTRAIT IN BLACK" (Odeon) — Even the most desultory movie patron knows that Anthony Quinn is a magnificent actor. One only has to think of "La Strada" or "The Black Orchid" to remember him in two of his finer moments. But you would never guess it by seeing him in Universal-International's "Portrait in Black."

The fault isn't Quinn's so much as Ivan Goff and Ben Roberts' 112-minute adaptation of their own play. But you do wonder why an actor of his experience accepted the role.

For it is long and boring and contrived. The tale is about Lana Turner, love-starved wife of crippled shipping magnate Lloyd Nolan. Quinn is the doctor who administers to Nolan and, after hours, to his wife. Between them they decide never guess it by seeing him in Universal-International's "Portrait in Black."

The fault isn't Quinn's so much as Ivan Goff and Ben Roberts' 112-minute adaptation of their own play. But you do wonder why an actor of his experience accepted the role.

What happens after that is pure agony, not only for the lovers but for the audience as well. Everything ever used before in murder plots of this order is thrown in as sort of a grab-bag of clichés. There is the leering chauffeur, Ray Walston; enigmatic Oriental maid, Anna May Wong; daughter Sandra Dee who scorns her step-mother, and Nolan's scheming, unprincipled lawyer, Richard Basehart.

All have been seen to good advantage at one time or another but even director Michael Gordon couldn't save them this time. Sandra Dee, one of the most promising new-comers seen in years, solved her problem by nipping from one scene to another as though she were a busy teenager who was before camera by mistake and had only dropped in to pick up her washing or something.

Most of the others look as though they wished they had thought up the same idea.

ERNEST "MIKE" BENNETT

DRIVER-OFFICER RETIRES

In 42 Years Mike Missed 'Big' Ride

By AB KENT

Veteran of 42 years service with Victoria fire department, assistant chief Ernest "Mike" Bennett retires Oct. 31.

He never rode to a fire on the back of a truck—neither vintage steam pumper nor modern counterpart.

"I went on as a driver and was one all my life until I was made an officer. I never rode to a fire on the back of a truck," the 60-year-old fireman said.

But he plans to do plenty travelling in retirement despite his active life chasing fires, and not all will be behind a wheel.

TECHNIQUES CHANGE

The Pacific Coast, especially California, and Eastern Canada, which he has visited briefly, are two appealing targets.

In his years of service, with an inclination toward fire-fighting machinery, Mike finds one of the biggest changes in the role of the fire department to be the use of powerful engine-driven pumps to create high pressure hose spray.

When he joined in October, 1918, the fire department was using hose trucks driven by air-cooled engines to pull smoke-beicing steam pumps to fires.

Object then was simply to drench the burning premises with as much water as possible.

Today, with high pressure fog nozzles that smother flames instead of washing them away, and trained firemen who tackle fires scientifically through a knowledge of ventilation and damage control, firefighting has emerged as a mechanized trade.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions by letter to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address: Poor questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Jim Zulaw, age 10, of Pittsburgh, Penna., for his question:

Why did prehistoric animals become extinct?

The most dramatic prehistoric animals were the dinosaurs who said goodbye to the world some 60 million years ago. These animals were reptiles, some big and some small. They thrived in warm, damp weather and most of them fed on coarse water plants. Throughout their long reign, the climate of the world was mild and wet and much of what is now dry land was covered with swampy seas of fresh water.

All this time the world was just right for reptiles, which is why the dinosaurs of this age were so successful that they branched forth into countless shapes and sizes. One toothy variety took to the air on huge, leathery wings. Just when the world was crowded with countless different varieties of healthy dinosaurs, things changed.

The climate became dry and perhaps much colder. The swampy stretches disappeared

Improved Selves in Time

Some 500 million years ago, long before the dinosaurs, the most advanced animals in the world were the trilobites, crusty little creatures who lived in great numbers on the floors of the ancient seas. Through the ages, some of the trilobites improved themselves. Some learned to curl into round balls and make themselves safer from their enemies. These fellows had a better chance of surviving.

The original trilobites became extinct millions of years ago, but some of their descendants went on improving and they did survive. Our crabs, lobsters, insects and spiders can all trace their family trees back to trilobite ancestors.

Less than a million years ago, some of these trilobites improved themselves. Some learned to curl into round balls and make themselves safer from their enemies. These fellows had a better chance of surviving.

'Roosevelt to My Right, Churchill to My Left'

Pickersgill

(17th of a series)
At the very time (July 19, 1943) Mackenzie King was discussing with Malcolm MacDonald the message to Churchill about the landing of the Canadian troops in Sicily, he had on his desk, unanswered, a cable from Churchill stating that he and Roosevelt would like to have a meeting in the near future and suggesting that it be held at Quebec.

Embarrassing

Malcolm MacDonald "felt it would be embarrassing for me to raise the question in my position, and . . . said it would be better for him to do it . . . and made it quite clear that it would be a mistake to have the meeting at Quebec unless I were more than in the position merely of host to Churchill and Roosevelt in the eyes of the people."

"Churchill mentioned he and I could discuss other matters also. I should show ready acquiescence in the suggestion. I drafted a reply but, in the light of what was said by Robertson and MacDonald, added a paragraph to the effect that the position of Prime Minister of Canada would necessarily have to be considered when the meeting was on Canadian soil."

"However, before sending this to MacDonald to transmit to Churchill, I decided to strike it out as sounding a note that might be resented by Churchill on the morning that he was about to reply to a question asked him in the British House regarding recognition of Canadian forces. I, therefore, let my answer go in the most cordial wording possible, without reserve."

On August 4, there was a message from Churchill suggesting a formal British-Canadian conference, on the day following his arrival.

Mackenzie King dined with Mr. and Mrs. Churchill and their daughter, Mary, during the visit.

Wanted Assurance

During dinner they discussed "the announcement of the invasion of Sicily. Among other things, I mentioned that I had communicated with the President because Eisenhower had to do with the military operations, and I wanted an assurance from the highest quarter that . . . we were at liberty to make a statement."

Mackenzie King added that he could get no such assurance from the British who "had simply passed on a word of our desire to Eisenhower, but we had never got a communication back from the British Government, and that we were not to make an announcement for another twenty-four hours."

"I told him of our hearing the American War Office announcement about our troops, and that I then felt free to make the announcement. . . I did . . . Having received the direct assurance of the President, I felt safe when I learned that the War Office had mentioned Canadians, and let my statement go."

Irritating

He told Churchill that what was particularly irritating was the fact that Massey had been informed that the President had given this assurance, and that, although the British authorities knew this, he later received word "we would be assisting the enemy if we made mention of Canadian troops participating."

"We had never got from the British Government any word back that Eisenhower had either agreed or not agreed, and received also no authority at the time from Britain which we had received from the United States."

The next morning Mackenzie King called for Churchill shortly after 11 to go to the meeting with the Canadian War Committee at the Chateau Frontenac. At the meeting, at which Sir John Anderson was also present, Mackenzie King "explained that we fully understood the position as to Churchill and the President being the directing heads (of the war)."

"We then went through the various topics, most of which had to do with difficult questions that had come up, and which had resulted in misunderstanding. The first item was the position of the Canadian troops. Ralston dealt with this in a very frank way. Then there came the question of the recognition of the French National Committee."

Quite Correct

"I spoke about the use of the term 'Anglo-American,' and the omission of Canadians. Churchill explained his difficulty, which we all said we understood. . . At the end of the meeting, I said that . . . perhaps Churchill might think from the number of issues we had raised that we had only grievances to speak of, forgetting that the whole war effort was being carried on in complete harmony and co-operation."

"Churchill was quick to say that he thought that everything which had been brought up was quite correct. He was so glad he himself was here to discuss the matters."

"He then spoke about the announcement (about what had taken place at the meeting) to be given out, and, when he began to discuss it, he said perhaps we had better draft the notice at once. He then took his pencil and made a draft which I handed to Heene. The meeting lasted until nearly two o'clock."

'Relied Upon Me'

The following afternoon Mackenzie King had tea and a "very interesting conversation" with Mrs. Churchill who "spoke about how much Churchill relied upon me and spoke of how glad he was to be with me and to share days together."

Mrs. Churchill told him "many things about Winston. One thing was that his being out of office for a number of years and writing the Life of Marlborough had had a real effect upon his character."

"He had discovered that Marlborough possessed great patience. That patience became the secret of his achievements. . . That Winston would ask her whether she thought he would ever be back in government again. That she had told him he might not."

"She then told me that when Neville Chamberlain took over and succeeded Baldwin, and did not invite him into the Cabinet, she said then she did not think he would be in any future government."

"She told me finally it was only four days before the war actually came on that Chamberlain told him he would like to have him in the Cabinet in the event of war, but she went on to say that if war had not come, he would not have been taken into the Cabinet."

Dinner Host

On Aug. 17, Mackenzie King and Churchill drove in an open car to Wolfe's Cove to meet Roosevelt.

The following evening Mackenzie King was host at a dinner for Roosevelt and Churchill.

The next few days were filled for Mackenzie King with a most unending interviews with the visitors to Quebec.

On Aug. 24 Mackenzie King wrote that at 12.30 he had "presided at a meeting between the president and Churchill and the press. We were gathered together on the deck of the Citadel."

"The president was seated to my right; Churchill, to my left. The press gathered around in a semicircle. I made a few introductory remarks. Gave the photographers four minutes to take pictures before calling on Churchill to speak first. The president had suggested I should do that, reversing the order of Casa Blanca. When I told Churchill of it, he said it was pretty short notice."

'Quite a Speech'

"He began feeling his way and before he had concluded he had delivered quite a speech. He had spoken of Britain, the U.S. and Russia, but had made no mention of China. I whispered to him to say a word on China. This he did in a very satisfactory way."

At one o'clock on Aug. 31, the members of the war committee and a few others assembled in the sun room of the Citadel to listen to Churchill's broadcast.

Mackenzie King felt "it was well done. A well built structure, world scale with a fine moral appeal. He made a very generous reference to myself as an experienced statesman who had led Canada unitedly and unanimously into war at the moment needed."

"When the broadcast was over, I left the room to meet and congratulate him. He asked me if it was all right."

I told him I thought he had touched on the subjects all were most interested in hearing a word about and I did not think he had made any omissions of significance."

After the meeting (with Churchill and the war committee) Mackenzie King went to bed for an hour's rest and then went to the station to say goodbye. As the train moved away, Mackenzie King proposed three cheers. "Churchill came to the end of the car window and said: 'God bless you all.' He was clearly touched by the friendly feeling of those who were assembled to say goodbye. It was amusing to hear one little child call out 'Churchill' and drew his attention."

SOUTH AFRICA ESTABLISHING ANTI-SPY NET

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters). The pro-government newspaper Die Transvaler claims Tuesday the South African administration is thinking of setting up a "secret service" to combat Communist spies inside and outside the country.

Die Transvaler quotes authoritative sources as saying that "activities of Communist spies have increased so much recently that attention will now have to be given to an anti-spy network."

Luke Hansard began printing his reports of proceedings of the British Parliament in 1774, and they became official in 1803.

RESCUE HAZARDS

Fire Chief 'Doused' On Signs

Fire Chief James Bayliss got nowhere Tuesday when he opposed roof signs, canopies and tall projecting signs as a serious hazard to firemen and people they try to rescue from burning buildings.

The chief voiced his opposition to the three types of signs, particularly on hotels, at a meeting of city council's public works committee.

But the committee adopted seven amendments suggested by sign company representatives to the proposed new sign bylaw, including larger roof signs and projecting signs rising above roof lines.

CAN'T PLEASE ALL

Ald. J. L. W. McLean noted the fire chief "may not agree with this 100 per cent but I don't imagine we can even hope to put through a sign bylaw that will please everyone 100 per cent."

He said committee should "go along (with the sign company suggestions) unless we are going to wash out all the deliberations that have gone before."

Ald. A. I. Curtis and Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, both supporting a vote of thanks to Ald. McLean for leading protracted discussions between sign company representatives and city officials, said they were prepared to go along with whatever he felt best.

COMPROMISES

Ald. McLean said the amendments were compromises between two positions. Chief Bayliss said the large roof signs and their supporting guy wires interfered with firemen chopping holes in roofs of large buildings to relieve gas pressures and control flames. He added that the canopies and tall, perpendicular signs, particularly on some hotels, would make it "physically impossible to get a ladder up to the various windows above."

ONE LADDER

"Our work would be doubly hazardous, and particularly for people we might have to rescue, where these particular hotel signs exist," he said. He added he could only use a single ladder under these circumstances "yet I might need half a dozen ladders there."

The amendments recommended by the committee would: permit larger roof signs than proposed; extend the deadline to eight years; permit larger projecting signs and allow them to rise two feet above roof lines; permit free standing signs nearer than 10 feet to a street corner; allow billboards to remain in the central business area and permit them on certain developed properties.

WCB UPHELD BY JURY IN SILICOSIS HEARING

VANCOUVER (CP)—A coroner's jury found Tuesday that former miner Louis Battaglia did not die as a result of silicosis, but rather from bronchial pneumonia.

The jury's verdict recommended that post-mortem examinations be held to further research into silicosis. Battaglia died Sept. 1 at the age of 72 while he and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (I.M.S.W.) were battling through the courts to force the Workers' Compensation Board to pay Battaglia a silicosis pension.

The board claimed he did not have silicosis. Four doctors testified earlier at the inquest that there was not enough medical evidence to suggest silicosis was a factor in Battaglia's death.

Woman, Boy Hurt In City Accidents

A woman and a nine-year-old boy were given hospital treatment after separate accidents involving bicycles Tuesday afternoon.

Tommy Attree, 919 Darwin, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital with head cut and bleed after his bike was in collision with a car on Saanich Road at 3:30.

Police said driver of the car, which was sideswiped, was George Lewis, 3950 Saanich. Grace V. Stewart, 63, of 10 Bushby, was given a check-up at St. Joseph's when she received bruises in collision with a cyclist at Yates and Government at 5:15 p.m.

Robert Pulton, 633 Michigan, told police he was just starting off from a stop at the traffic light when the pedestrian suddenly turned back and into his bicycle after starting to cross the street.

100 Poisoned At Wedding Party

BOARD OF TRADE MAN BACK FROM JAPAN

'Drop Your Complacency'

Canadians can no longer afford to indulge in the superiority and complacency that has bedevilled them for the past few years, members of Victoria Kiwanis Club were warned Tuesday.

The warning came from G. M. Morris, assistant general manager of the Vancouver Board of Trade, who has just returned from a trip to Japan, Formosa and Hong Kong, in a talk on "A Westerner Looks West."

"We can no longer afford to put the individual above all else," said Mr. Morris.

COMMON WHL

One of the most noticeable things he saw in the areas he visited this summer was a common will to work for the betterment of the community. For years observers had been bringing back the same story from Western Europe.

"It appears very much evident that we must take a good look at our own country," he said.

Fifteen years ago Japan was a broken country with only one resource—a people of great drive and energy.

Now, Canada and the USA could learn a lesson from the Japanese in good technology, good factory conditions and in energy, he said.

The problems of the colony of Hong Kong arose mostly from its absorption of over one million refugees from Communist China.

"But Hong Kong will solve its problems," Mr. Morris said. "The government has done a tremendous job in housing these refugees and with very little help from the outside world."

A few years ago the colony earned 75 per cent of its money through handling other peoples' goods. Today it earned the same percentage by selling its own goods.

DEPORTATIONS DELAYED FOR COURT APPEAL

PORTLAND (AP)—Hamish Scott Mackay and William A. Mackie were relieved Tuesday when they learned the federal government has delayed their scheduled deportation.

"That's good news," said the 51-year-old Mackie, a Portland house painter who was to be deported to Finland on Sunday.

"My, I'm glad," said 55-year-old Mackay. He was to be deported to his native Canada today.

Tuesday the Immigration Service announced in Washington, D.C., it was delaying the deportations to give the U.S. Supreme Court time to review a new appeal. The court has rejected earlier appeals.

The government contends that the two men are aliens and that they once were members of the Communist Party.

Both men deny that they ever were Communists.

GIVE CANADIANS BETTER CHOICE

Remove Trade Curbs, Auto Workers Urge

OTTAWA (CP)—Serious consideration of the merits of more integration in the Canadian and United States auto industries was urged today by the United Automobile Workers (UAW).

The objective would be to remove trade barriers, allowing Canadians the choice of models produced in either country while giving Canadian manufacturers in return the two-country market volume necessary for lower-cost production of cars and components.

This was the main pitch in the UAW brief to the royal commission on the automotive industry headed by Prof. Vincent Bladen of Toronto. It is a proposal first put forth this year by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, chairman of the British Columbia Power Commission, and prominent in the line of questioning being conducted by Dr. Bladen.

50 Elderly Couples In Kiwanis Village; More Lots Cleared

R. N. E. Harris, president of Kiwanis Village Society, told the annual meeting recently that the village now consists of 50 cottages occupied by elderly and deserving couples.

During the past year, he said, additional lots had been purchased from the city and had been levelled off with more than 33,000 yards of fill.

The society elected Mr. Harris, Glenn Hope, Louis Lindholm and Drummond Taylor as directors for three-year terms. Dr. Hugh Borsman was elected for two years and D. H. Lawson for one year. Mr. Hope was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

'You're Ducking—No, You Are'

WASHINGTON (UPI)

Presidential opponents Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy accused each other today of ducking in campaign speeches topics that might lose votes.

Nixon began the new day of blunt charge-trading by questioning Kennedy's political courage for having fallen "so strangely silent" on the Democratic farm program.

"Could it be that once again his political nerve has failed him?" Nixon asked in a speech prepared for delivery in Springfield, Ohio. The GOP candidate repeated his charge that his rival's program would boost food costs and suggested Kennedy lacked the "political courage" to estimate how grocery prices would be affected.

'FACE THE FACTS'

Kennedy accused his opponent of a "political coverup" on American prestige abroad. He called on Nixon to make public a government survey which published reports said showed that foreign countries consider Russia the world's mightiest military power.

"Perhaps this incident of political coverup will remind us that it is time to face, not hide, the facts about our situation, both at home and abroad," Kennedy said.

IKE FOR DICK FRIDAY

WASHINGTON (UPI)

President Eisenhower, just back from a cross-country speaking tour, prepared today to launch an oratorical campaign barrage in behalf of GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon.

The chief executive returned Tuesday from a nine-day, "non-political" trip in which he refrained from openly plugging for Nixon. But he still got in a few veiled digs at Democratic candidate John F. Kennedy.

Eisenhower will make a nation-wide television speech Friday night from Philadelphia in support of Nixon.

Tuesday that U.S. Information Agency (USIA) director George V. Allen was withholding reports on America's standing abroad "to keep the public from learning the facts before election time."

RUSSIA SAID STRONGEST

USIA counsel Thomas G. Roderick told subcommittee investigators that Allen was "checking with the White House" for a decision on whether to release the reports.

The investigators planned to question USIA employees on the matter today.

CAMPAGN to oust Hugh Gaitskell as leader of the British Labor party has won support of Emanuel Shinwell, above, party's elder statesman. Shinwell accused Gaitskell of defying Labor party policy.

ON QUEMOY, MATSU STATEMENTS

Kennedy 'Wrong'—Nixon

CINCINNATI (AP)—Vice-President from a Republican rally, took President Nixon declared Tuesday this challenge, saying "I day night that Senator Kennedy was completely wrong in emphatically denying," his Democratic opponent's statement.

Administration had tried to get the Chinese Nationalists to withdraw from Quemoy and Matsu.

Kennedy challenged Nixon in last Friday's television-radio debate to deny that several missions were sent to Formosa to try to persuade Chiang Kai-shek to remove his troops from the two offshore islands.

Nixon, in a televised speech

Premier Khrushchev "would have stomped on" Kennedy if the senator had represented the U.S. at last May's summit conference in Paris.

People and Things

(Times News Services)

DALLAS, Tex. — The feature gift in the 1960 Christmas catalogue mailed Tuesday by Neiman-Marcus which operates specialty stores in Dallas and Houston, is "his" and "hers" private airplanes.

For a total price of $176,000, the store will deliver a seven-place Beechcraft Super G18 for "him" and a four-place Beechcraft Bonanza for "her."

The Bonanza is white, with red trim, and there is a Russian white ermine jacket to match. The jacket adds $2,975 to the bill.

Last year, the store, which is patronized by many Texas millionaires, featured a 1,500-pound steer, available on the hoof or dressed, with a silver beef cart for outdoor barbecues for $3,500. There were three sold.

MANILA—A man who ventured too close to two fighting cocks died from a gash inflicted by one of the bird's spurs. The accident occurred during a cockfight in Laguna province in the Philippines south of Manila.

QUEBEC—The Quebec Liberal government will carry through with construction of a monument to the late Premier Maurice Duplessis, founder of the Union Nationale party.

An informant said the government of Mr. Lesage is slightly "embarrassed" about the monument for which the 1959-60 legislature session voted money. The legislature was dominated by the Union Nationale at the time.

LOS ANGELES—The Three Stooges comedy team has been sued for $450,000 damages by the widow of a former member of the troupe.

Mrs. Valerie Howard brought the action Monday, with her two daughters, Jane Howard and Mrs. Marilyn Server. The suit also asked for an accounting.

ARE THEY THE BEST?

City Jaycees Try For World Title

Following its recent nomination as the most successful Jaycee group in Canada, Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will try next month for the world title at the annual meeting of world Jaycees in Paris.

The bid is being backed by the Canadian Junior Chamber. Last year's winner was Calgary, winner of the Canadian title. This year Victoria topped Calgary for the national title and local hopes of success are high.

ALBUMS

Victoria Jaycees also are trying for world honors in humanitarian assistance and commercial education competitions. Their entries—in the form of albums—left on Monday destined for Paris.

Attending the Paris meeting will be president Al Wilson. He and his wife will leave Victoria about Nov. 11 and return a week later.

Jaycee interest at the moment centres around the proposed signs bylaw. At their last meeting members postponed a decision until hearing both sides of the question.

Tonight's meeting will feature Wilf Fraser, of Neon Products, who will put forward the argument opposing the bylaw. Mr. Wilson today denied television and radio reports Tuesday that Jaycees had challenged publicity commissioner William Hawkins to a verbal due at speakers' corner over the "Follow the Birds to Victoria" controversy.

"We don't want an irreparable rift to exist," he said.

Spies Sentenced

CAIRO (AP)—An Egyptian court Tuesday sentenced six foreigners convicted of spying for Israel to prison terms ranging from seven to 15 years. The court ordered death sentences for three of the 11 Egyptians tried with the foreigners. The others got prison terms ranging up to 10 years at hard labor.

Belgium Ignores Dag

BRUSSELS (Reuters)—Belgium has rejected a demand by United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld that all direct Belgian aid to the Congo be discontinued and about 1,800 Belgian civilian technicians still working there be recalled, a government source reported.

BOMB SCARE HOVERS OVER NEGRO TRIAL

DECATUR, Ga. (AP)—Telephone threats to bomb the courtroom were reported today at an appeal hearing for a Negro integration leader sent to prison to serve four months for a traffic law violation.

Sheriff Bob Broome said state police were told by unidentified callers that the courtroom would be blown up during efforts of Negro lawyers to file an appeal for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

After clearing out about 100 white and Negro spectators, Judge Oscar Mitchell moved the hearing to another room as a precaution. Only lawyers and accredited reporters were allowed to remain.

They contend that earnings from the team's theatrical appearances should have been shared with the estate of Mrs. Howard's late husband, Jerome (Curly) Howard, because Howard aided in developing the shows. Howard died in 1952.

Defendants are the present members of the team—Howard's brother Moe, Larry Fine and Joe DeRitis, who replaced Jerome.

MONTREAL—Anton (Tony) Sovic, 19-year-old Yugoslav immigrant who paid $1,000 for a taxi ride to Vancouver, returned to Montreal by air Tuesday under police escort.

Detective Lieutenant James Crichton, the escort, said Sovic will be arraigned today on charges involving forgery of some $3,000 in cheques.

Sovic stopped taxi driver Leonidas Hebert Sept. 16 at Montreal's busiest corner, St. Catherine and Peel, and asked to be driven to Vancouver.

Sovic said he wanted to see his brother-in-law, but didn't look forward to a trip by plane or rail.

The 3,200-mile ride took four days and Sovic, whom Hebert later identified mistakenly as "Tony Stoyl", paid the fare with ten $100 bills.

A photo of Sovic taken by Hebert proved the undoing of the young immigrant. Montreal police, listing Stoyl as a suspect in the false cheque cases, sent the photo to Vancouver police.

The Vancouver force, which had picked up Sovic for questioning twice during his brief stay, promptly arrested him again.

INTEGRATION IRKS WHITES AT DETROIT

DETROIT (AP)—The parents of children at three predominantly white Detroit schools voted Tuesday night to keep their youngsters home to protest the transfer of 312 Negro children to the schools. About 2,000 parents met and voted to keep their children home Friday and next Monday and Tuesday from the Guest, Monnier and Noble schools. The Guest and Monnier schools are all-white. The Noble has a few Negro students.

Victor Over Henry Ford Dead at 75

LONDON (AP)—Harry Ferguson, tractor magnate, died today. He was 75.

Ferguson was inventor of a lightweight tractor which sold all over the world. He once fought a multi-million-dollar lawsuit with the Ford Motor Company in the United States.

Ferguson charged the Ford company with conspiring to destroy his company and infringing on his tractor patent. The inventor sued for $342,000,000. In an out-of-court settlement he got $9,250,000.

In 1952 he merged his English farm machinery company with Massey-Harris Company of Canada to form one of the world's largest farm implement companies.

But in 1954 he quit as head of the Massey-Ferguson company and announced in Coventry, where he had his company, that he would work on new inventions.

He soon announced he was working on a revolutionary system for motor transport. His brainchild became known in Britain as a new "wonder car."

A spokesman for the firm said today this new invention was in its final stages when Ferguson became ill recently.

EVEN THE PATIENTS HELP—On right is arthritis victim Ernest Emery, still on crutches but who can drive. He brings patients in worse condition than himself to C.A.R.S. Clinic at St. Joseph's Hospital. He

FUNDS REQUIRED FOR RESEARCH, TREATMENT

Arthritics Need Help—Yours—Through 'Chest'

By TONY DICKASON

Arthritis, one of history's oldest diseases—bone structures in ancient mummies indicate this—is no respecter of age.

Children get it, as do persons in the middle years, and the elderly.

Combating arthritis is difficult because there is no known cause and no over-all "cure."

It can, however, be arrested.

This is where function of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society is effective.

The C.A.R.S. treatment centre at St. Joseph's Hospital handles close to 70 patients monthly. They average 300 treatments, administered by Mrs. M. L. Peterson, a physiotherapist and osteopathic nurse.

The clinic, in operation 11 years, is made possible through Community Chest donations. This year C.A.R.S. is asking the Chest for $12,075.

Mrs. Peterson says many persons who have a form of arthritis fail to take advantage of the clinic because of the "tremendous advertising of non-medical products" which suggest possible cures.

165,000 Disabled

Money contributed C.A.R.S. goes for treatment to help persons suffering from the disease, for research, public information and advancement of medical education.

To be eligible for clinic help, a patient must have a requisition from their doctor. If they can pay they are asked to do so; if not, it is free.

There are 50,000 Canadians totally disabled by the disease and another 115,000 partially disabled. It hits most generally in the prime of life, or the working age, 18 to 64.

Seriousness has reached the point where a chair of research has been established at University of British Columbia to deal with arthritis and other rheumatic difficulties.

There are two main types of arthritis, rheumatoid and osteoarthritis. Both attack the joints, but the former is the more serious. It visibly cripples while the latter means pain but the visible crippling factor is lacking.

Treatment at the clinic in St. Joseph's can be had by accredited patients "as often as is necessary" says Mrs. Peterson. It varies with the type of arthritis and severeness.

Volunteers also include carpenters and other "handymen" who make therapy units for specific use of individual cases.

To help bring crippled hands back to normal there is an arts and crafts group; to assist persons who feel alone in their battle there is a visiting committee.

One of the workers on behalf of patients is Mrs. E. C. Carson, widow of the late highways minister.

She too, suffered from arthritis, and like many others is endeavoring to help. Everyone can, through the Community Chest.

Adlai to Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Adlai Stevenson, twice-defeated Democratic presidential candidate in the United States, will visit Toronto Dec. 3 to make two speeches. The former governor of Illinois will address a B'nai B'rith charity dinner and speak at the Primrose Club, a new Jewish social centre.

Another woman couldn't move her legs more than four inches when she started attending the clinic in 1957. Today she has a near-normal walk.

There are numerous patients who if they had not undergone treatment would today be in wheelchairs.

Hits Women Hard

More women than men suffer from the disease. Average age is 45.

There is an active volunteer group, many of who have been arthritis patients themselves, who help the C.A.R.S. program here. They assist in the clinic, and drive persons to the hospital for treatment who could not otherwise get there.

PITY THE POOR SALMON FISHERMEN

The poor salmon season this year has divided anglers roughly into two groups—the optimists and the pessimists.

The pessimists have in most cases beached their boats in a huff, stowed their gear, and written the season off as a flop.

But the optimists never say die. They buy more tackle, make more trips, peer through more drizzle, and hatch up rumors.

EMPTY-HANDED

There was a strong rumor last week that a coho run had started off Sooke, and dozens of eager fishermen raced off to try their luck, only to come home full of chagrin and with empty boats.

Even the good ones are being skunked.

John W. Keating, Sooke businessman and sport fisherman, said he has still to catch his first salmon this year.

STORY SNOWBALED

"Two gillnetters docked at Sooke one day with the kind of hauls we have seen all year," he said. "One had four hake for a night's work, and the other had 15 salmon. Ordinarily at this time of year they would have had from 60 to 150 salmon each."

He believes the rumor started with Mr. and Mrs. L. Eddy of East Sooke telling friends recently of the excellent fishing they enjoyed in October of 1952, when they first arrived from England.

"By the time the story was fourth or fifth hand, it was a big run right now," he said. "I had a lot of people come and buy bait from me on the strength of it."

Trolling is useless, he said, and many of the sport fishermen in the Sooke-Jordan River area have put their boats away for the winter.

Mr. Keating places the blame for the lack of salmon on floods of early December, 1956, which he feels washed salmon roe from most of the rivers and streams of Vancouver Island.

"We know that after the floods the lower reaches of Sooke River were covered with salmon roe, and the seagulls ate nothing but roe for three or four days," he said. "There couldn't have been many fish come down Sooke River the next spring, and I expect most rivers on the Island were the same."

"This is the season which would be most affected by a spawning disaster of 1956," he said.

'Unwanted' Baby Starved, Court Convicts Parents

(Compiled From CP)
PRINCE GEORGE — A man and his wife were convicted Tuesday of charges of criminal negligence laid when their 10-month-old son almost died from malnutrition.

Lawrence Wade, 30, and his wife Yvonne, 22, were also convicted by an all-male Assize Court jury. Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan reserved sentence.

The Wades were charged after welfare workers found their son, Albert James, suffering from what was described as "severe starvation" last April. The baby weighed nine pounds five ounces, an increase of only six pounds five ounces, since its premature birth June 1, 1959.

Dr. Patrick Kinahan, who supervised the child's recovery, said that on admittance to hospital it was starving and on the point of dying.

Mrs. Wade, the sole defence witness, told the court she wanted to place the baby up for adoption at the time of its birth because her husband was not the father.

"The whole situation seems to be one of an unwanted child," said prosecutor H. B. King.

The couple had three older children, placed in foster homes after the charges were laid.

Their four-year-old girl died from body bruises last August. The woman in whose care she had been left was subsequently charged with murder but the charge was dismissed at a preliminary hearing.

CHILD BEATEN

PRINCE RUPERT — Louis La Forte, 36, was committed for trial here Monday night on a charge of murder in connection with the death of a two-year-old girl.

Marcella McKay died Sept. 16, approximately eight hours after she had been taken to hospital in a badly-beaten condition.

One of the witnesses who was Gordon Sinclair Bittan, next door neighbor of La Forte, who said he heard thumps, screams and a child crying the same day the McKay girl died.

MAN THREATENED

VANCOUVER — A youth secured the release of his friend Tuesday night by threatening a man with a hunting knife. The man had grabbed one of two boys he found outside his home after a car aerial had been thrown against his door. Dennis Funnell released the youth and both boys ran away.

INCREASE REFUSED

PENTICTON — School District 15 trustees have rejected a 5 per cent salary increase sought by the Penticton and District Association of Teachers.

The salary boost, which trustees said would cost the district $34,350 next year, was turned down along with requests for three fringe benefits — appointment of department heads for each major subject, sabbatical leave and recognition of summer-school credits.

Acting board chairman Phil Workman, who outlined the teachers' request, said the only reason given for the proposed increase was that it would bring district teachers to the provincial average.

"Every taxpayer I've spoken to is against a pay increase at this time," said trustee Gordon Lake. "The public has been on the teachers' side in the past, but not now."

IWA LEADER RETURNED
VANCOUVER — Syd Thompson was re-elected president of the big Vancouver Local 217 of the International Woodworkers of America. Also returned were first vice-president Tom Clarke, second vice-president Bob Clair and financial secretary Stu Hodgson.

MINERS FIRED

MERRITT — Fifty-five operating engineers who staged a wildcat strike against Peter Kiewit and Sons Monday night at the nearby Craigmont Copper Mine stripping project are being paid off, a company official said late Tuesday.

He said the men, members of the International Union of Operating Engineers, had failed to return to work by the noon deadline.

The walkout began in protest against the dismissal of four engineers who refused to work weekends for time-and-a-half pay.

The Kiewit spokesman said the strikers had indicated they would not return to work immediately even if their fellow workers were reinstated.

Mystery Disease

JAKARTA (Reuters) — Eighty Indonesians died this month of a mysterious disease in a district about 100 miles east of here. Antara news agency reported Tuesday. Medical experts believe the disease was caused by a virus infection of the liver.

NOISY DOG CHARGE BEATEN

Bylaw Barks Back At Saanich Council

A charge of keeping a noisy dog — thereby disturbing the peace — was dismissed in Saanich police court Tuesday when a local bylaw was found to be at fault.

David C. Wright, 5367 Ruston, was charged after next-door neighbor John A. Long complained to police Wright's barking dog kept him awake.

Subsequently, a charge of keeping a dog that disturbs the peace was laid by police.

Magistrate William Ostler said he had difficulty deciding application of the bylaw requirement: "disturbs the peace," noting that the Municipal Act empowers a local council to regulate the rest, quiet, enjoyment, comfort or convenience of the public.

Regulations of the "peace" — or properly "the Queen's peace" according to the Criminal code — is for the federal parliament to decide, Mr. Ostler concluded.

CANADA GETS AVIATION MUSEUM

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada got its National Aviation Museum Tuesday.

The display, a collection of aircraft oddments, ranging from some of Sir Alexander Graham Bell's experimental kites to a mock version of the RCAF's Velvet Glove air-to-air missile, was opened officially by Fisheries Minister MacLean.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, chairman of the National Research Council associate committee that planned and organized the establishment of the museum, described it as "what we all hope is to be a first installment of the national museum of science."

Bennett Urges Big 5-Year Works Plan

B.C. Wants Tax Talks Postponed

OTTAWA (CP) — Premier Bennett of British Columbia said today the Dominion-provincial fiscal conference should make an immediate attack on Canada's unemployment problem.

In a brief prepared for the conference of premiers he proposed that long-range tax-sharing arrangements, to be negotiated at the meeting, should be set aside for the present.

"In the view of British Columbia, the urgent necessity for a many-pronged attack on the factors which have led to recession and unemployment deserves first priority," he said.

Copies of his brief were distributed to reporters outside the closed conference room this morning a few minutes after the meeting was called to order.

TO MAKE JOBS

It contained detailed plans for a five-year $411,800,000 plan for British Columbia which he called a "partnership development program." Included were $50,000,000 in projects which would "generate 438,000 man-days of employment and should be started immediately."

"British Columbia believes that the details of tax-sharing arrangements must for the present time, at least, yield priority to the more pressing problems of national development and employment."

"British Columbia's only further observation is that the province should receive a larger percentage of personal income tax revenue in order to further reduce home-owner taxes in both municipal and rural areas."

Mr. Bennett said that when the present round of Dominion-provincial fiscal talks began in July, he urged action to improve fiscal relations between the federal and provincial governments, contending that the provinces should not try "to cut bigger slices from the existing financial pie."

UNEMPLOYMENT FIRST

But now "the economic pie has not grown; indeed, it has shrunk."

"The urgent necessity for a many-pronged attack on the factors which have led to recession and unemployment deserves first priority."

Mr. Bennett also urged the federal government to make capital available to school boards, municipalities and hospitals at not more than 2 per cent interest.

He asked that the federal government "remit forthwith" $17,334,000 as a subsidy to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, to cover its northern extension, and said the provincial government is prepared to build a further extension to the Alberta border if the Northern Alberta Railway were built from Hines Creek to connect with it.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Help us each one, O God, to build our lives into a structure of strength and beauty, stone upon stone, decision upon decision, obedient act upon obedient act. May we know always, to keep it level and to keep it square. Above all, we pray that youth may early find the sure foundation of the works of Jesus, the only foundation, the rock which is the person of Jesus, our Savior. In His name we pray. Amen.

CONSOLATION!

Four Victoria and one Comox resident drew tickets on horses entered in the race, and will receive consolation awards of up to $1,300.
They were: Hans Myhre, J. A. A. Olivier, Wah Quan, and William Marsden, Victoria; and unidentified "Young Fellow," Comox.
Only other Canadian $137,500 winner as yet identified is Merle Purtillo, 40-year-old Hall-fax spinster.

UN CRACKS DOWN ON CONGO TROOPS

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The United Nations cracked down on the unruly and disorganized Congolese army today, ordering its men out of Leopoldville and back into barracks by Thursday morning.

The UN acted to end the orgy of looting, drunkenness and violence by Congolese soldiers who have been molesting panicky citizens of this capital city since Saturday.

TWO MONTHS' HEAD START

Commons Opens Nov. 17

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced today the next session of Parliament will be open Nov. 17 this year, giving members and senators a two-month head start on their legislative work.

BY ASTROLOGER

Queen Told 'Be Careful' November 1

LONDON (AP) — An astrologer who predicted a year ago that the life of the Queen might be endangered this fall has warned her to be specially careful Nov. 1.

The astrologer is Dr. W. J. Tucker.

In the Astrological Magazine of India he wrote in August, 1959:

"The principle danger is aviation and the Queen's advisors should dissuade Her Majesty, should she manifest a desire to travel by air anytime during the years 1960-61."

He warned particularly against mid-October to Nov. 1.

"Tuesday, Nov. 1, will be the most dangerous day of all," he wrote.

In an interview today, he said:

"The Queen's plane narrowly escaped being hit by some fighter planes yesterday. My prediction was borne out."

As to Nov. 1, that's the day the Queen opens Parliament.

"She plans no plane travel that day," said a Buckingham Palace spokesman.

Normally the next regular session would open in mid-January, but Mr. Diefenbaker foreshadowed the earlier opening last Saturday when he said there would be a pre-Christmas start.

It will be the fourth session of the 24th Parliament, elected March 31, 1958.

Mr. Diefenbaker told the Progressive Conservative party national executive meeting Saturday the earlier opening would permit the Commons to dispose of the throne speech debate and some other matters — such as setting up parliamentary committees — before taking a Christmas adjournment. His hope was that the session could end earlier next summer than usual. Recent sessions have been running into July and this year it lasted until Aug. 10.

High on the agenda for the new session is expected to be a government bill setting up a national productivity advisory council to tackle the long-range unemployment problem.

U.S. Prestige Report Won't Be Made Public

(See page 25)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House acknowledged today that the U.S. Information Agency prepared a secret report on American prestige overseas and backed up the agency's refusal to let congress see it.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the report was "an internal, low level staff paper similar to many others that are prepared" by the agency's staff.

Hagerty said the paper was labelled "secret under policies

Premiers Balk At Return To 'Tax Jungle'

(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Diefenbaker today told the provincial governments that Ottawa is willing to scrap the existing tax-rental agreement and allow them to fix their own rate of income taxes and succession duties.

He made the proposal in opening the dominion-provincial tax conference. The conference immediately broke up, as the ten premiers and their aides wanted time to study it before continuing.

Premier Bennett of British Columbia and Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan later attacked the proposal and other premiers gave evidence of a lack of enthusiasm.

"It's a return to the tax jungle of the 1930s," said Premier Douglas following the luncheon break of the conference.

"British Columbia must say that it considers these to be totally unrealistic," commented Premier Bennett.

Mr. Bennett said B.C. is "surprised and disappointed at the action of the prime minister in refusing to make the most pressing national problem of the day — unemployment — the first item on the agenda of the conference."

"The proposals offer no aid whatever to the hard-pressed municipalities short of adoption by the provincial governments of a policy of double taxation in the income tax field. B.C. has stated its opposition to such a policy and we will continue to oppose it in the strongest possible terms."

The proposal could result in a different level of income taxation, both personal and corporate, in each province, after the existing rental agreement expires on March 31, 1962.

The prime minister also agreed to a demand initiated by Premier Frost of Ontario for a constitutional amendment that would enable the provinces to levy an indirect sales tax, at the retail level.

This step would require almost unanimous approval. It would allow the seven provinces now collecting direct sales taxes to slip them on before the final over-the-counter purchase.

In effect, he told the premiers that if they feel the Canadian taxpayer can support a higher level of taxation, they can raise it themselves, and take the blame.

In terms of dollars, the federal government would reduce its tax collections by $300,000,000 a year after 1962. The provinces, to continue their existing rate of spending, would have to make up that amount by raising their own personal and corporate income taxes and succession duties.

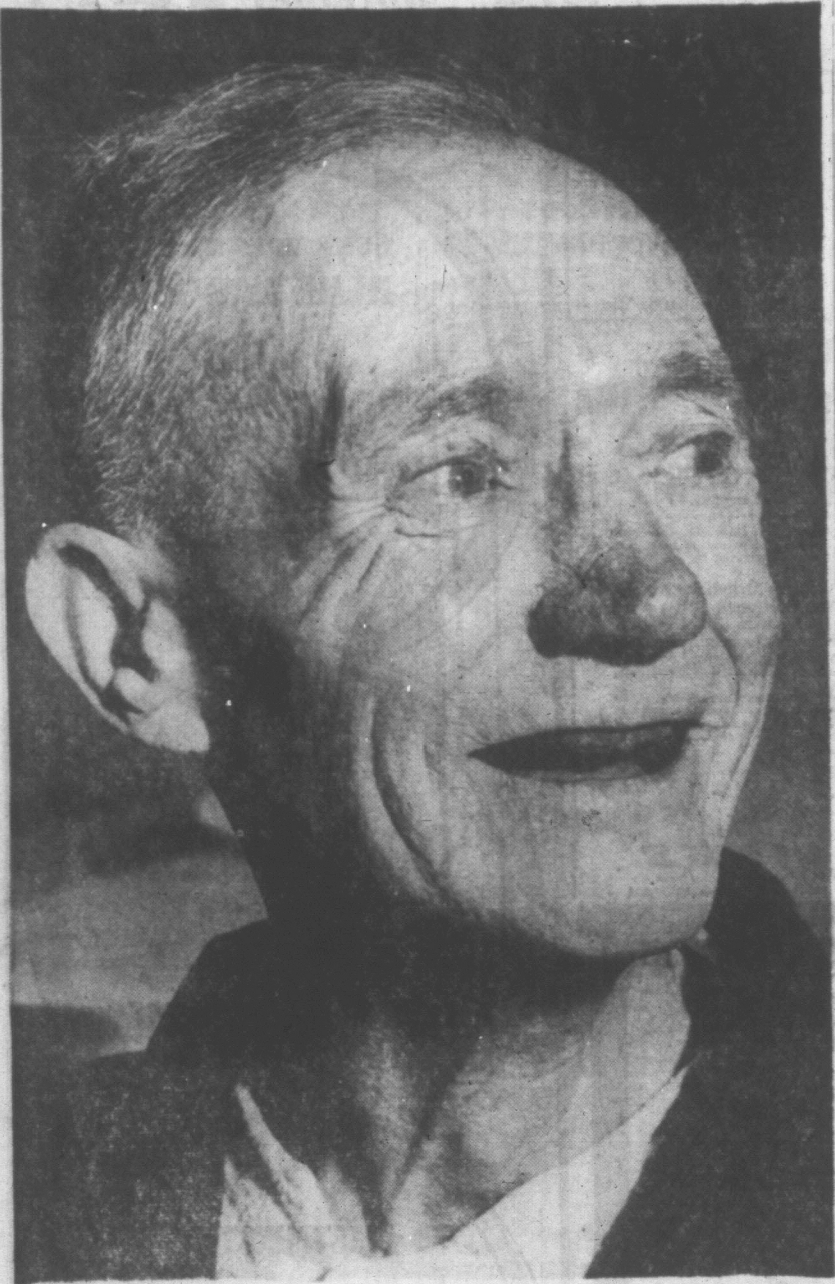

If they want to spend at a higher level — their requests at the first tax-sharing conference totalled $2,000,000,000, according to an estimate by Finance Minister Fleming — they could set higher rates.

No mention was made in Mr. Diefenbaker's statement of collection. However, it is known Ottawa favors using the federal government's facilities as a single collection agency.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that to meet the needs of provinces with a lower tax potential, Parliament would be asked to provide.

OTTAWA (UPI) — Newly-appointed Defence Minister Douglas Harkness will leave Saturday for consultations with NATO allies and a visit to Canadian forces in Europe.

Freighter Returns

SEATTLE (AP) — The storm-damaged freighter Greelan Emblem radioed today that temporary repairs have been made and she is heading back to port from about 800 miles off the California coast.

Loos Forces Clash

VIENTIANE (Reuters) — Renewed fighting has broken out in northeastern Laos province of Phongsaly between government forces and pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas, army sources said here today.

N.Y. Trains Collide

NEW YORK (UPI) — A subway train carrying 20 passengers collided into the rear of a stopped work train in Brooklyn early today, injuring 12 persons, none seriously.

James Cambrey, 1184 Reynolds, won $137,500 today with an Irish Sweepstake ticket on Midsummer Night, winner of the Cambridgeshire Handicap at Newmarket, bringing his lifetime sweepstake winnings to a total of $137,590.

The lifetime has been a long one — 71 years — and the purchases of sweepstake tickets many and varied.

Mr. Cambrey, a veteran of the First World War, has been a consistent ticket buyer since the days before he donned uniform in 1914. His only previous win was shortly after the armistice, a $90 consolation prize.

IN HOSPITAL

Mr. Cambrey heard the good news at the Veterans' Hospital today, where he has been spending a few days receiving treatment for anemia and an infected throat.

What will he do with the money? "God knows," said Mr. Cambrey, a wide grin on his pinkish face. "But I have a big family. Three married sons, one married daughter. Ten grandchildren. Eleven great-grandchildren."

Asked if a "share the wealth" plan was in the offing, he only grinned a bit more broadly.

"I didn't even know I'd drawn a horse until the race was over," he said. "All I know is, I'm happy. I've sure got something to smile about today."

Mr. Cambrey's sons are James, in whose home at 1184 Reynolds he has an apartment; George, Shelbourne Street, and John, Derby Road. His daughter is Mrs. E. C. Winter, 4011 Grange Road.

ONE OF FIVE

He is one of five Canadians to win the top $137,500 with tickets on Midsummer Night, a 40-1 longshot. (See race story, page 10.)

Only other B.C. resident whose horse finished in the money was Mrs. E. A. Charlesworth of Kamloops, who won $27,500 on third-place Ides of March.

Nine Canadians will cash in on Ides of March. Five won $55,000 each on Fougalle in second place.

CONSOLATION!

Four Victoria and one Comox resident drew tickets on horses entered in the race, and will receive consolation awards of up to $1,300.

They were: Hans Myhre, J. A. A. Olivier, Wah Quan, and William Marsden, Victoria; and unidentified "Young Fellow," Comox.

'Great Debate' Just Blah, Blah

By TOM GOULD

OTTAWA — Justice Minister Fulton and B.C.'s Premier Bennett, conducted a war of words today over financing of the development of the Columbia River.

There was a comic air about the 'debate,' conducted in the main lobby of the Parliament Buildings before swarms of reporters awaiting the opening of the federal-provincial tax-sharing conference.

The two men met briefly before the debate, shook hands, smiled, then headed for separate corners of the lobby. Premier Bennett was first:

FULTON ... B.C.

"We have no offer from the federal government for financing the Columbia," he said. And he tossed a few playful hints that B.C. might just decide to finance the development on its own.

"We are getting the cheapest money in Canada today," said the premier.

He told reporters Ottawa has never put an offer to assist in financing the Columbia in move which prompted a re-writing. When reminded of the poster to remark: "Just like offer is in writing in the minutes of a Columbia negotiating meeting, he said: "There is nothing on the amortization period, 30 years, or 40 years, and nothing about the interest rate."

One of Mr. Fulton's aides was listening in, rushed over to Mr. Fulton, who then moved into position to confront the same newspapermen.

"Premier Bennett has an offer, and he has carefully refrained from coming to grips with it. We offered to finance half the cost of the storage dams, at the usual terms. (This involves the rate at which Ottawa obtains the money, plus one-eighth of one per cent.)" said Mr. Fulton. said Mr. Fulton.

"The federal government proposed a cut-and-dried take-it-or-leave-it offer. We are prepared to consider any counter-proposals but we must have B.C.'s reactions first. The ball is in his hands."

B.C. Asks Ottawa Aid For Port Hardy Road

$18 Million Job Bennett Estimates

A northern Vancouver Island highway from Nanaimo to Port Hardy is the major local project in Premier Bennett's five-year works plan proposed today to battle unemployment.

Mr. Bennett virtually ignored the issue of tax-sharing at a conference on that subject in Ottawa today to present his $411,839,600 program.

He wants the federal government to assist in costs and to launch the program immediately with $50,007,600 spent this winter in B.C.

COST $18,000,000

The Island highway project would cost a total of $18,000,000, he said.

This year's section would consist of clearing, grading and graveling from Duncan Bay to Sayward, a distance of 35 miles, at a cost of $2,800,000.

Another major project in the five-year program for the Island would be paving the new Alberni to Tofino road, a distance of 70 miles. This would cost $3,000,000.

NIMPKISH BRIDGE

Mr. Bennett's highway projects for this winter also include a stretch of the northern road from Port McNeill to Beaver Cove, to cost $600,000, and to include a bridge over the Nimpkish River.

A $400,000 road would also be put in at Comox from the RCAF station to Courtenay.

Ferry landings would be constructed in the Gulf Islands on Texada, Pender, Saturna and Salt Spring.

Access roads to Crown forest resources would be built at Port Hardy at a cost of $496,000, and to mineral resources at Cowichan and Nitinat Lake for $300,000.

Forest protection work would include clearing and slashing at Tofino, Campbell River, Duncan and Nanaimo areas, costing a total $68,000.

Reforestation would include Jordan River, Cowichan Lake and Campbell River areas costing at total $140,000.

SCIENCE BUILDING

Among the public works projects is a science building for Victoria College to cost $2,000,000.

Parks projects include Long Beach campsite, Sprout Lake and John Hart picnic and campsite and development of Newcastle Island for a total of $150,000.

Besides the west coast road and northern Island highway, five-year projects include spending $7,000,000 for a Port McNeill to Zeballos road, and $2,900,000 for building another 25 miles and paving 20 miles of the west coast road from Jordan River.

Detectives Probe Papers in Search For Missing Man

Search for a missing Vancouver businessman swung briefly to Victoria Tuesday as homicide detectives investigated the business background of Daniel Renix.

Renix is alleged to have had complicated business affairs prior to vanishing Sept. 29 after taking a prospective buyer for a cruise in his 26-foot pleasure craft.

under concrete roof supported by 14-foot-high columns shown receding into darkness. Topsoil will be spread on the roof in the spring and Victoria College is expected to use the almost two-acre level area as a playing field. The $600,000 reservoir has been under construction since January.

MONTE ROBERTS

Had a heart to heart talk with Little Miss Muffet, the small female-type cat who lives in our house, last night.

Imagine lots of other people around these parts had talks with the cats and dogs who live in their houses.

Topic of conversation: insurance can now be taken out on dogs and cats who live in various people's houses in Victoria.

Insurance covers death, disability, hospitalization, maternity, wounds incurred in losing fights, and liability, such as people tripping over cat or dog and falling flat on face.

Asked Little Miss Muffet whether she thought it good idea to take out insurance on her.

Miss Muffet said, as you wish.

Aren't you thrilled? I asked Little Miss Muffet.

I should be thrilled, Miss Muffet replied, because YOU collect money should I die, be disabled, hospitalized, lose a fight, or somebody trips over me?

Ha, said Miss Muffet.

(You may have noticed Miss Muffet missed one item in the list covered by insurance. She's not that kind of female-type cat.)

I told Miss Muffet she should be grateful I even considered taking out insurance on her.

Better I should take out insurance on you, Miss Muffet remarked. After all, I haven't even used up one of my nine lives yet, and as for you...

This rubbed my fur the wrong way, so I told Muffet cat insurance was only available to cats with a pedigree.

Pedigree, schmedigree, Muffet replied. I will have you know my ancestry goes 'way, 'way back, even into the Egyptians, when a bunch of cats conned the Egyptians into a job protecting the granaries from mice.

There hasn't been a cat since did a lick of work, Miss Muffet said, and now you come along and ask me for my pedigree.

Never mind, I said, I can't insure you unless you produce your pedigree. Where is it?

Where's yours? asked Miss Muffet.

Ah, er, I said.

What a pity, said Miss Muffet. It would have been such an economical way of putting a bounty on your hide.

For cat's sake, I said.

Exactly, said Miss Muffet.

CHARLES NELLES, home-owners' voice.

He Kept It Up And It Cost Him $25 in Court

A youth who taunted a police officer and threatened to sue was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to shouting and swearing on Courtney Street Tuesday night.

"Hit me. I'll sue you for it," 18-year-old John Michael Ross, 651 McKenzie, was quoted by Cons. John Burdumy.

The constable said he stopped a car driven by Ross when he noticed it had no headlights. Ross jumped out and began a tirade against the officer, who warned him he would be charged with creating a disturbance if he kept it up.

He kept it up and was charged.

Ex-Saanich Councillor Runs in City

First salvo of the coming civic election was fired today by Charles Nelles, 44-year-old apartment house owner, who announced he will run for city council.

Mr. Nelles, former Saanich councillor, said he will run as an independent to give a voice for the 13,000 city home-owners on what has been "a downtown business-dominated" council in recent years.

Mr. Nelles is the second person to declare himself a candidate for one of the four aldermanic seats that will be filled by voters Dec. 8.

Elgin Neish, Communist party member, who has contested several civic elections unsuccessfully, previously said he will run.

EXPLODING POINT

So far, retiring aldermen Arthur Dowell, A. I. Curtis, E. D. McEwen and H. D. Ramsay have not announced their intentions. But speculation is that all will seek re-election.

Nominations will close Dec. 1 and several more contenders are expected to enter the contest before then. Two school trustee vacancies for the city also will be filled by voters, but there will be no mayoral election this year and so far there is no indication that ratepayers will be asked to vote on any money bylaws.

Mr. Nelles opened his campaign with tough talk aimed at surrounding municipalities and the provincial government which he claimed had been using Victoria's conveniences without paying their share of the cost.

SHOULD BE PROUD

"Victoria is the oldest city on the coast and it should be a proud place but because of the way it's been used by its unruly neighbors and the government, it looks slatternly and its taxes are higher than they should be.

"Government Street looks like a used TV western set and its time council changed that." He charged that the provincial government, which refuses to pay taxes on its property in the city, and the "great numbers" of residents from neighboring municipalities "have just looked on Victoria as a convenience."

"But our 13,000 home-owners have to pick up the tab for building roads so they can get in and out of the city as fast as possible," he said.

"And playing host to the provincial government has cost them $300,000 a year in supplying civic services without the government paying its bill."

He said while city assets, like the watershed, were sold or virtually given away for the benefit of the area, "our downtown section has become shabby and our 13,000 home-owners have not been looked after well enough."

He said it was true the Capital Improvement District Commission was spending money improving the whole area "but I think that money belongs to us and we could spend it better. Our future should be designed by our own council and not by an outside authority."

School Bylaw Up to Voters November 19

Large Vote Urged On Saanich Issue

A twice-defeated Saanich school bylaw will be submitted to rural ratepayers again on Saturday, Nov. 19.

School Board 63 chairman J. D. Helps announced today the date of the vote after receiving permission from the B.C. government to submit the $784,000 issue to the ratepayers for the third time.

The bylaw will include a new secondary school, a North Saanich high school annex and improvements at Royal Oak, Beaver Lake, Mount Newton, Saanichton and Sidney schools. Gordon Hayward, Saanich municipal clerk, has been appointed returning officer.

Polling booths will be located in schools of the district.

MONEY NEEDED

Mr. Helps called for a large turnout of Saanich peninsula voters to ensure passage of the bylaw designed to alleviate over-crowding in present schools.

He was backed by Reeve George Chatterton who said the lack of school facilities is deterring people from moving into Saanich.

Two similar bylaws defeated in February of this year and December 1959 forced schools to convert poorly ventilated basement space into makeshift classrooms at Cordova Bay and Brentwood elementary schools.

A. G. Blair, secretary of school district 63, said the school population now numbering 2,825, had reached an "explosive point."

"About 500 pupils are now on swing shift at Mount Newton H.H. School," he said. "About 280 pupils start school at 8 a.m. and end at 12. The remainder attend classes in the afternoon."

The main purpose in the new bylaw is the construction of a $300,000 secondary school on Wesley Road.

AT COLLEGE SINCE 1930

Professor Dies Of Heart Attack

Edward Jack Savannah, 62, assistant professor of chemistry at Victoria College, died in hospital Tuesday evening after a heart attack.

He had been under medical care for several months, but had taught as usual at the college Tuesday. He was stricken at his home.

Born in Victoria, he was well known in both education and business circles.

He was the son of J. Savannah, one of the city's first large-scale studio photographers, and carried on the business for several years while teaching at the college.

He received his bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees at the University of California, in Berkeley, and did post-graduate work at the University of Washington in Seattle.

In 1930 he joined the Victoria College staff, and was there continuously until his death.

NEW LATIN COUP D'ETAT

SAN SALVADOR (AP) — President Jose Maria Lemus was overthrown today in a military coup.

A combined civilian-military junta has taken power. Lemus went to Guatemala accompanied by the secretary-general of the presidency, Maj. Adolfo Rubio Melhado.

The capital and the country were reported calm.

El Salvador has been under a state of siege imposed by the Lemus government for the past two months.

The emergency measure was taken after a series of street disorders stemming from student protests against government policies.

'TAX JUNGLE'

Premiers Balk At Dief Plan

By TOM GOULD
(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Diefenbaker today told the provincial governments that Ottawa is willing to scrap the existing tax-rental agreement and allow them to fix their own rate of income taxes and succession duties.

He made the proposal in opening the dominion-provincial tax conference. The conference immediately broke up, as the ten premiers and their aides wanted time to study it before continuing.

Premier Bennett of British Columbia and Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan later attacked the proposal and other premiers gave evidence of a lack of enthusiasm.

"It's a return to the tax jungle of the 1930s," said Premier Douglas following the luncheon break of the conference.

"British Columbia must say that it considers these to be totally unrealistic," commented Premier Bennett.

Mr. Bennett said B.C. is "surprised and disappointed at the action of the prime minister in refusing to make the most pressing national problem of the day — unemployment — the first item on the agenda of the conference."

"The proposals offer no aid whatever to the hard-pressed municipalities short of adoption by the provincial governments of a policy of double taxation in the income tax field, B.C. has stated its opposition to such a policy and we will continue to oppose it in the strongest possible terms."

The proposal could result in a different level of income taxation, both personal and corporate, in each province, after the existing rental agreement expires on March 31, 1962.

The prime minister also agreed to a demand initiated by Premier Frost of Ontario for a constitutional amendment that would enable the provinces to levy an indirect sales tax, at the retail level.

This step would require almost unanimous approval. It would allow the seven provinces now collecting direct sales taxes to slip them on before the final over-the-counter purchase.

At present, Ottawa collects all personal and corporate income taxes and succession duties from all provinces but Quebec, then hands back a percentage of the collection to the provincial governments.

"It is an old adage of public finance that the government that spends the money ought to collect the money," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

In effect, he told the premiers that if they feel the Canadian taxpayer can support a higher level of taxation, they can raise it themselves, and take the blame.

In terms of dollars, the federal government would reduce its tax collections by $300,000,000 a year after 1962. The provinces, to continue their existing rate of spending, would have to make up that amount by raising their own personal and corporate income taxes and succession duties.

If they want to spend at a higher level—their requests at the first tax-sharing conference totalled $2,000,000,000, according to an estimate by Finance Minister Fleming—they could set higher rates.

No mention was made in Mr. Diefenbaker's statement of collection. However, it is known Ottawa favors using the federal government's facilities as a single collection agency.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that to meet the needs of provinces with a lower tax potential, Parliament would be asked to prohibit the provinces from making up that amount by raising their own personal and corporate income taxes and succession duties.

Copies of his brief were distributed to reporters outside the closed conference room this morning a few minutes after the meeting was called to order.

It contained detailed plans for a five-year $411,800,000 plan for British Columbia which he called a "partnership development program." Included were $50,000,000 in projects which would "generate 438,000 man-days of employment and should be started immediately."

CITY PENSIONER WINS $137,500 IN THE 'IRISH'

'My Happy Day' Declares Winner

By MONTE ROBERTS

James Cambrey, 1185 Reynolds, won $137,500 today with an Irish Sweepstake ticket on Midsummer Night, winner of the Cambridgeshire Handicap at Newmarket, bringing his lifetime sweepstake winnings to a total of $137,590.

The lifetime has been a long one — 71 years — and the purchases of sweepstake tickets many and varied.

Mr. Cambrey, a veteran of the First World War, has been a consistent ticket buyer since the days before he donned uniform in 1914. His only previous win was shortly after the armistice, a $90 consolation prize.

IN HOSPITAL

Mr. Cambrey heard the good news at the Veterans' Hospital today, where he has been spending a few days receiving treatment for anemia and an infected throat.

What will he do with the money?

"God knows," said Mr. Cambrey, a wide grin on his puffy face. "But I have a big family. Three married sons, one married daughter. Ten grandchildren. Eleven great-grandchildren."

Asked if a "share the wealth" plan was in the offing, he only grinned a bit more broadly.

"I didn't even know I'd drawn a horse until the race was over," he said. "All I know is, I'm happy. I've sure got something to smile about today."

Mr. Cambrey's sons are James, in whose home at 1185 Reynolds he has an apartment; George, Shelbourne Street, and John, Derby Road. His daughter is Mrs. E. C. Winterburn, Grange Road.

ONE OF FIVE

He is one of five Canadians to win the top $137,500 with tickets on Midsummer Night, a 40-1 longshot. (See race story, page 10)

Only other B.C. resident whose horse finished in the money was Mrs. E. A. Charlesworth of Kamloops, who won $27,500 on third-place Ides of March.

Nine Canadians will cash in on Ides of March. Five won $55,000 each on Fougale in second place.

CONSOLATIONS

They were: Hans Myhre, J. A. A. Olivier, Wah Quan, and William Marsden, Victoria; and unidentified "Young Fellow," Comox.

TWO MONTHS' HEAD START

Commons Opens Nov. 17

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced today the next session of Parliament will be open Nov. 17 this year, giving members and senators a two-month head start on their legislative work.

Normally the next regular session would open in mid-January, but Mr. Diefenbaker foreshadowed the earlier opening last Saturday when he said there would be a pre-Christmas start.

It will be the fourth session of the 24th Parliament, elected March 31, 1958.

Mr. Diefenbaker told the Progressive Conservative party national executive meeting Saturday the earlier opening would permit the Commons to dispose of the throne speech debate and some other matters — such as setting up parliamentary committees — before taking a Christmas adjournment. His hope was that the session could end earlier next summer than usual. Recent sessions have been running into July and this year it lasted until Aug. 10.

High on the agenda for the new session is expected to be a government bill setting up a national productivity advisory council to tackle the long-range unemployment problem.

There was a comic air about the 'debate,' conducted in the main lobby of the Parliament Buildings before swarms of reporters awaiting the opening of the federal-provincial tax-sharing conference.

The two men met briefly before the debate, shook hands, smiled, then headed for separate corners of the lobby. Premier Bennett was first.

'Great Debate' Just Blah, Blah

By TOM GOULD

OTTAWA — Justice Minister Fulton and B.C.'s Premier Bennett conducted a war of words today over financing of the development of the Columbia River.

There was a comic air about the 'debate,' conducted in the main lobby of the Parliament Buildings before swarms of reporters awaiting the opening of the federal-provincial tax-sharing conference.

The two men met briefly before the debate, shook hands, smiled, then headed for separate corners of the lobby. Premier Bennett was first.

"We have no offer from the federal government for financing the Columbia," he said. And he tossed a few playful hints that B.C. might just decide to finance the development on its own.

"We are getting the cheapest money in Canada today," said the premier.

He told reporters Ottawa has never put an offer to assist in financing the Columbia in writing. When reminded the offer is in writing in the minutes of a Columbia negotiating meeting, he said: "There is nothing on the amortization period, 30 years, or 40 years, and nothing about the interest rate."

One of Mr. Fulton's aides was listening in, rushed over to Mr. Fulton, who then moved into position to confront the same newspapermen.

"Premier Bennett has an offer, and he has carefully refrained from coming to grips with it. We offered to finance half the cost of the storage dams, at the usual terms. (This involves the rate at which Ottawa obtains the money, plus one-eighth of one per cent.)

"He is dodging the matter," said Mr. Fulton.

"The federal government proposed a cut-and-dried take-it-or-leave-it offer. We are prepared to consider any counter-proposals but we must have B.C.'s reactions first. The ball is in his hands."

Both men said it was up to the other to make the first move, which prompted a reporter to remark: "Just like Khrushchev and Eisenhower."

Said Mr. Fulton: "With Mr. Bennett as Khrushchev I will accept the parallel."

OVER FIVE YEARS

Bennett Urges Big Works Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — Premier Bennett of British Columbia said today the Dominion-provincial fiscal conference should make an immediate attack on Canada's unemployment problem.

In a brief prepared for the conference of premiers he proposed that long-range tax-sharing arrangements, to be negotiated at the meeting, should be set aside for the present.

In the view of British Columbia, the urgent necessity for a many-pronged attack on the factors which have led to recession and unemployment deserves first priority," he said.

Copies of his brief were distributed to reporters outside the closed conference room this morning a few minutes after the meeting was called to order.

It contained detailed plans for a five-year $411,800,000 plan for British Columbia which he called a "partnership development program." Included were $50,000,000 in projects which would "generate 438,000 man-days of employment and should be started immediately."

UN CRACKS DOWN ON CONGO TROOPS

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The United Nations cracked down on the unruly and disorganized Congolese army today, ordering its men out of Leopoldville and back into barracks by Thursday morning.

The UN acted to end the orgy of looting, drunkenness and violence by Congolese soldiers who have been molesting panicky citizens of this capital city since Saturday.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE HELPS BREAK DOWN FATS IN THE DIGESTIVE TRACT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fats... actually breaks them down. It is an established fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fats are broken down and form a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your digestive tract, liver bile helps break down fats the same way. Many of the foods you eat reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down these fats... for easier and more complete digestion.

Cartier's Little Liver Pills' exclusive formula of vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fats in your digestive tract.

So when you feel sluggish, head-achy, nervous and need a laxative, take Cartier's Little Liver Pills.

Remember, Cartier's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile. Get Cartier's Little Liver Pills today!

'I'm Good As Man Of Sixty'

John E. Whittaker, Duncan, who said he was 83, "but as good as a man of 60," was fined $10 in Duncan police court Tuesday when he admitted a charge of failing to yield the right of way when entering the Trans-Canada Highway from a service station driveway.

He also had his driving licence endorsed.

Cpl. Gordon Irving, RCMP, said Whittaker collided with a semi-trailer.

When asked his age, Whittaker replied: "I'm 83 but as good as a man of 60. I do all my own housework. I've lived a good life."

New Secretary For Chamber

(From Duncan Bureau)
Arthur F. Stevenson, 53, has been named the new full-time secretary of Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce.

A resident of the Cowichan district for the past 14 years, he was formerly Duncan agent for an oil company. In addition to his chamber duties he will continue a private accounting practice.

SHIP DISASTER SURVIVORS:

'Our Prayers Were Answered'

CAMPBELL RIVER — Cold and alone on a tiny rubber raft, shipwrecked fishermen had their prayers answered when they saw a ship head toward them.

The freighter, Alaska Prince, took four men from the raft. Fred Phillips, 34, was dead, and Bill Sigmund, 37, skipper of the foundered Vancouver seiner, Sea Pride II, died on the ship before it reached here.

Survivors were George Wiseman, mate, and Gary Sigmund, 21, nephew of the dead skipper. All were from Vancouver.

Wiseman said a huge wave capsized the $60,000 craft at about 2.30 a.m. Tuesday as it neared Cape Mudge, southeast of here.

They were on the boat's deck when the wave hit, and slid to the water with the raft. For three hours they tossed, and were repeatedly capsized. It was the tiny light on the raft and the cries of the two men which attracted Capt. John Eveleigh and his crew on the Alaska Prince, and enabled them to make the rescue.

"We prayed to God that someone would come," Wiseman said. "We were shivering with the cold—it was a cold, driving wind."

Cape Mudge is known as one of the most treacherous areas in the Georgia Strait region. Meeting place of strong tidal currents, it becomes a seething cauldron in a storm, and has claimed several lives.

Ratepayers Reject School Tax Bid On Cars, Boats

NANAIMO — Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association defeated a resolution presented by C. R. Eldred, Cobble Hill, that cars and pleasure boats be taxed for school purposes.

Walter Tickson, Nanaimo representative, said the association has been trying for years to have taxes for schools removed from property, and that Mr. Eldred's resolution would be a reversal of that stand.

OTTAWA (UPI) — Newly-appointed Defence Minister Douglas Harkness will leave Saturday for consultations with NATO allies and a visit to Canadian forces in Europe.

Freighter Returns

SEATTLE (AP) — The storm-damaged freighter Grecian Emblem radioted today that temporary repairs have been made and she is heading back to port from about 800 miles off the California coast.

Laos Forces Clash

VIENTIANE (Reuters) — Renewed fighting has broken out in northeastern Laos province of Phongsavang between government forces and pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas, army sources said here today.

Harkness to Europe

SUBMARINE CABLES FOR ISLANDS

Submarine cables soon will carry power and telephone service for new communities of Island dwellers off the Spanish peninsula coast.

The provincial government has given permission for Coal Island Ltd. to send two cables across the sea bed to Knapp, Gudge and Coal Islands, off Deep Cove.

One will carry electricity, the other will be a telephone line.

They will serve new subdivisions on the three islands. It is hoped the area will become a popular site for summer homes—close to Victoria, yet isolated enough for seclusion.

A cabinet order Tuesday approved an easement for the development company giving it right-of-way over crown lands for its cables.

December Vote

PORT ALBERT — Residents will vote in the December municipal election on an $800,000 water improvement plan designed to end low-pressure problems in higher residential areas.

Movies to Bolster Fight On Chemainus Breakwater

CHEMAINUS — Chemainus Chamber of Commerce will go all out—including movie making—to try and convince the federal department of public works it was wrong in ruling out a breakwater for Chemainus Harbor.

The chamber presented a brief to the department this spring urging construction of a $285,000 rock fill breakwater, but the request was rejected.

Compan, with the biggest investment in the harbor, MacMillan, Bloedel & Powell River Ltd. estimated at over $10,000,000, has agreed to back a second brief to the government.

Chemainus Towing Co., Rod and Gun Club, fishermen and Nanaimo MP Walter Matthews will support the brief.

2,000 BOATS

The chamber maintains a breakwater is needed to insure the year-round protection of the 2,000 pleasure and fishing craft that use the harbor. Total waterfront investment is $17,000,000.

To make their brief more impressive, the chamber will prepare a special 16mm. movie of Chemainus Harbor illustrating the activity along the waterfront, suggested location and need for a breakwater.

"From all sources, the federal government has received millions in revenue from Chemainus over the years and all we have to show is one government wharf, one spar buoy and a flashing light, said chamber president James Webster. "There is not one permanent government structure to show for 99 years of progress and taxes. Even the post office and customs office are rented property."

FELLOWSHIP MEETING

DUNCAN — About 70 members of the Duncan and Douglas (Victoria) Rotary Clubs enjoyed a friendly, fun-filled inter-club meeting at the Malahat Chalet Monday night.

The fellowship meeting was pronounced a success by presidents Bert Gray and Alf Becker, of the Duncan and Douglas Clubs, and a similar get-together will be held in the near future.

Guest speaker was Dr. H. M. Edmonson, Victoria radiologist, who spoke on his profession in an aptly titled talk "Inside You."

GIVING BACK

DUNCAN — Joseph Barraclough, no fixed address, got out of Oakalla Prison on Friday.

While in, he earned a few dollars working in camp, and when he came out, he spent it on drink.

In Duncan court Monday he admitted a charge of being intoxicated on Government Street.

He asked the court for a suspended sentence but Magistrate A. C. Sutton reminded him that this was his third offence in a month.

Barraclough will spend 15 days in jail because he couldn't raise the $10 fine and $6.50 costs.

QUATSINO ONLY B.C. BOARD TO SETTLE WITH TEACHERS

Quatsino, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, is the only one of 82 B.C. school districts to reach agreement with teachers on salaries for 1961-62, the B.C. School Trustees' Association has announced in Vancouver.

Trustees and teachers at the west coast community have settled on a salary boost of 1½ per cent.

By this time last year—one week before negotiation deadline—35 districts had settled with teachers.

A total of 550 persons, many of them from Victoria, took the opportunity, during National Forest Products Week, to tour the five mills in the district and see them in action.

Chemainus Sawmill and the Hillcrest Lumber Co. mill at Mesachie Lake attracted the largest number of visitors.

TOP KINSMAN

DUNCAN — Ken Hill has been named top kinsman of the year and winner of the Duncan club's coveted "brass hat trophy."

Incoming vice-president, he was selected for the award on the basis of his untiring efforts on behalf of the club during the 1959-60 term.

PECK CHOSEN

DUNCAN — School trustee Wilf Peck has been elected Vancouver Island representative on the executive of the B.C. School Trustees' Association.

Prizes will be given for originality of costumes and the children will receive free hot dogs and pop.

BONFIRE, PARADE

LUXTON — A Halloween bonfire and costume parade will be held Oct. 31 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Luxton fair grounds, sponsored by Happy Valley-Glen Lake Recreation Commission and Happy Valley PTA.
